Crowd Gathers Early.

Most of the state delegations had taken their places in the convention hall for probably the final session of the convention at 3:45. The gallery crowds already extended back to the last tier and promised to exceed in magnitude any of the former gatherings.

Officials were gradually taking their places on the platform. The prevailing talk from the floor indicated a prolonged session with little material change in the early ballots.

Senator Kern is being groomed as a dark horse in the race and when told today of a report that he and Mayor Gaynor, of New York, were to be put forward if it was ascertained that a deadlock would continue with the present candidates in the field he replied:

"Going to bring two fresh horses in the field, are they? Well, all I can say is that the microbe has not entered me and I am not troubling myself about it."

Kern-Underwood Suggestion.

It was reported this afternoon that a plan was on foot in event a favorable opportunity offered itself to spring a "Kern-Underwood" ticket. This plan seems to be contingent upon a deadlock, however, and Senator Kern himself was absolutely silent on the subject beyond saying that he was not a candidate.

"I came here to vote for and support Governor Marshall," he said, "and that is what I am going to do to the end—so long, indeed, as he is before the convention."

Mr. Kern even refused to see most members of the convention who were inclined to boost him and kept himself secluded in the rooms of the committee on platform.

Chief speculation during the early hours today centered on the length of the convention and its ability to avert a deadlock in the session beginning at 4 o'clock this afternoon and after that, of course, on who would be the nominee. It was expected that a number of caucuses would be held as the day progressed, but these could not be well begun until after noon as most of the leaders were in bed after the strenuous struggle of the night.

Doesn't Look for Deadlock.

Chairman Ollie James reiterated the view expressed after the early morning adjournment that there would be no deadlock and that the standard bearer would be chosen without another all-night session. The Chairman was little the worse for wear after his arduous duties of the night.

His voice was holding out well and his sturdy physique was serving him well in his efforts to keep the convention moving steadily forward amid the storms of popular demonstration. He felt, however, that most of the pent-up energy of the shouters had found expression and from now on the convention would keep steadily at business with the prospect of a succession of ballots until a decision was reached.

Following that will come the still open question of the vice presidency and then the platform. It was not expected that the platform would be reached until late this evening, and possibly not until tomorrow, although the draft will be ready for presentation well before that time.

Contrast of Quietude.

Headquarters of the national committee and of the state delegations at the Belvidere hotel were somnolent and serene in the early hours today, contrasting strangely with the marked activity and excitement of yesterday. Worn out, the leaders and delegates had gone to bed to gather strength for the final engagement of the nominating battle tonight.

National Committeeman Howell, of Georgia, saw a few leaders early this morning. He asserted that Underwood would be the man named for the head of the ticket.

The ballot of the early morning was taken as the starting point for all speculation as to who would be the candidate.

All eyes were centered on New York, Illinois and Indiana, with their large aggregate of northern votes. The feeling was general that the nominee of the convention is assured of a practically solid southern vote next November.

In Constant Consultation.

Messrs. Murphy, Sullivan and Taggart, the three leaders of these northern states, have been in constant con-

PLATFORM TO COVER WIDE FIELD AND SPEAK PLAINLY

Document to Take Decided Stand on Vital Issues and Along the Most Progressive Lines.

Baltimore, Md., June 28.—With heavy eyes and unkempt appearance, many of them breakfastless and all more or less cross, the members of the sub-committee of the convention committee on resolutions began gathering in their room at convention hall shortly after 10 o'clock this morning.

They came in singly or in pairs and all of them confessed to feeling very little like going to work after the strenuous performances of last night. Mr. Bryan was not among the first to arrive and the other members generally began work on the theory that comparatively little progress could be made in his absence.

Apparanetly when the committee ceased its labors yesterday the platform had been completed but, like all other documents of the kind, phraseological and other imperfections were discovered at every reading, so that the members found quite a bit of additional work to be done when they came together today in order to have their document in shipshape for the full committee, which met shortly after 11 o'clock.

Much Discussion.

There was much discussion both in the sub-committee and the full committee of minor propositions, which previously it had been decided should be omitted. Among these were the question of female suffrage and the use of the initiative, referendum and recall. It had been practically decided that these and other features should be left to the discretion of the states, but some of the members felt that an expression by the national convention would be helpful and along the lines for which the progressive wing of the party has struggled for the past several years. These points were left undecided until the last minutes. The differences on such questions as these have been those of policy and expediency only. There have been no differences of conviction.

Committee is United.

The committee has been united absolutely in support of the progressive idea and the members have vied with one another in their efforts to have the platform express the very foremost thought of modern democracy. The strongest and tersest words have been sought in framing every plank in the hope that the party's declaration of principles would be so vital that no one could have any doubt of the purpose of the democratic party to fulfill its pledges and relieve the masses of the people from what are denounced as the abuses by the privileged classes.

There also is an effort to so frame the platform as to appeal to the republican progressives in the hope that many of them may be won over, and indeed on part of some that Col. Roosevelt may be induced to abandon his future presidential ambitions and join the democrats in bringing about results on which they declare his views are in accord with their own.

Covers Many Fields.

With these purposes in mind the old time democratic doctrines will be so extended as to cover many fields. This inclination has led to the making of an unusually long platform, but its length will be found to be due to the variety of subjects rather than to the elaboration of any particular plank. Indeed there has been a consistent effort to blue pencil unnecessary words.

When, for instance, Samuel Gompers

TODAY IS HOTTEST DAY THIS SUMMER.

At noon today the thermometer at the local weather bureau station registered 86 degrees and Forecaster W. S. Palmer declared that the mercury would reach at least 90 degrees during the afternoon. This is the hottest day of the summer, although compared with the temperature for the corresponding date a year ago it is cool, for at this time a year ago the thermometer registered near the 100 mark. Three days ago the government thermometer registered 89 degrees at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, the hottest time of the day. It is expected to exceed that mark today.

FUTILE VOTE ENDS ALL-NIGHT SESSION

First Ballot at 7 O'Clock This Morning Gives No Choice—Convention in Recess Until 4 O'Clock.

STIRRING SCENES MARK LONG SIEGE

Baltimore, June 28.—After sitting all through the night, the democratic national convention reached the first ballot on the presidential nomination shortly before 7 o'clock this morning. There was no choice. In fact all of the candidates were so far away from the two-thirds vote necessary to nominate that the delegates today looked forward to a long, hard fight.

After the first ballot the convention, at 7:16 a. m., took a recess until 4 o'clock this afternoon. In the meantime there will be much studying of the figures on the test vote and many conferences among the leaders.

Totals on First Ballot.

The totals of the various candidates on the first ballot were:

Clark, 440½; Wilson, 324; Underwood, 117½; Harmon, 148; Marshall, 31; Baldwin, 22; Sulzer, of New York, 2; Bryan, 1; absent, 2.

Necessary to choice, 728.

No candidate receiving the necessary two-thirds of the votes, the ballot failed to nominate.

As was expected, Speaker Champ Clark led all of the other candidates on the first ballot. He received 440½ votes to 324 for Woodrow Wilson, his nearest rival. This, however, left the speaker 280½ votes short of the necessary two-thirds.

New York Helps Harmon.

Governor Judson Harmon, of Ohio, aied by New York's solid block of 90 votes, was third with 148. Representative Oscar W. Underwood, of Aabama, received 117½ votes.

Governor Marshal, of Indiana, received the 30 votes of his own state and 1 from Michigan.

Wm. Jennings Bryan, of Nebraska, got one vote—from the Ohio delegation. Some of his friends had expected that he would receive more scattering votes, but the fact that he did not show any strength whatever on the first balot did not discourage them. They still felt that in the event of a deadlock—which early today seemed more than probable—Mr. Bryan might be turned to again lead his party in the presidentia race.

Clark Vote Below Claims.

Speaker Clark's vote was less than his managers had claimed for him, but was about what the other candidates had conceded. The speaker's adherents were declaring today that he would steadily gain as the ballotting in the convention progressed, and at the same time were busy with their delegates to see that there were no defections.

The Wilson people on the other hand made claims that now instructed delegates had cast their votes on the first ballot in accordance with these instructions, they would be free later on to switch to a second choice. They expected to gain greatly in these changes.

It had been known for weeks that because of the great number of candidates and "favorite sons" in the fight for the nomination that a selection on the first ballot was entirely out of the question. The voting this morning bore out these expectations to the fullest degree. It was because the delegates know the situation was complex that they sat through the night listening to many weary hours of oratory and then agreed to a test vote before recessing for sleep and conferences prior to renewing the struggle. Everyone wanted to know how matters stood, and the roll call gave a definite idea of the preliminary line up.

Big Doubtful Quantity.

The big doubtful quantity in it was the vote of New York. That delegation at a caucus last night decided to give its ninety votes to Gov. Harmon on the first ballot. There probably will be other caucuses in the delegation as the ballots progress, and there is a chance that the big block of votes may be thrown at any time to Clark, Wilson, or some other candidate.

In addition to the renewed talk of a possibility of Mr. Bryan's nomination there was renewed talk of "dark horses." Most of the delegates, however, seemed content to let the fight run along in the convention through six or seven

THREE BADLY HURT

Louisville, Ky., June 28.—Two persons were killed and three seriously hurt in a fire that attacked a second floor dormitory in a business building here early today. One of the victims was a homeless woman. Last night she appealed at the dormitory for shelter. It was given.

This morning her charred body was found in the kitchen of the burned apartment. Like the others she had been overcome by smoke and before firemen could reach her she was found to be dead. She had given her name as Lulu Day.

The other person cremated was Cromey Van Nort, a chauffeur. Of the three injured, Charles Rogers, a newspaper man, is not expected to survive.

General Estenoz Killed in Sharp Engagement Near Songo.

REBELS ARE BESTED

Santiago, Cuba, June 28.—General Evaristo Estenoz, the rebel leader, was killed yesterday at Vega Bellaco, six miles from Micara, in the vicinity of Songo, by government troops, under command of Gen. De La Torre, after a battle in which 100 insurgents were killed. The dead include probably also, General Pedro Ivonet, whose body, however has not yet been found.

The body of Gen. Estenoz arrived in this city at 3 o'clock this morning. Great crowds of people lined the streets as the corpse was taken to the military barracks, where it will lie exposed to public view until the burial today.

Later it developed that the woman who lost her life was Mrs. Daisy Carter, formerly of Evansville.

The Innocent Bystander

THE STORY of the fistic encounter between two women shoppers in one of the five-and-ten-cent stores on Wednesday brings to light a similar incident in the same store on the preceding day. There was a special sale on kettles and other kitchen ware which attracted the attention of a large crowd, including in its numbers Miss Lorinda Brown, who is employed at the Reed Shoe company's store. Different articles were scheduled to be offered for sale at specified hours, and Miss Brown, who believed she saw a bargain in the tea kettles, made her appearance at the hour specified for their offering. She found a struggling mass of humanity, but she managed to squeeze her way to the counter which was the center of disturbance. Everybody seemed to be laughing heartily excepting three ladies, each of whom had grabbed the same tea kettle—the very last one of the stock left. Miss Brown looked on with interest and joined in the general enjoyment of the scene. Each of the three kept a firm grasp of the kettle, and it looked for a time as if the thing would be pulled to pieces, when all of a sudden two of the contestants let go and the hands of the victorious shopper shot back swiftly, carrying the teakettle with them. It happened that the utensil, in its swift movement, struck Miss Brown squarely in the mouth, which, fortunately, was open for laughing purposes, and hit in such a way as to knock off the entire back portion of one of the front teeth. The astonished young woman, as soon as she discovered she was damaged, made her way out of the crowd and sought a dentist. After viewing the wreck the dentist made an estimate of $10 on the repairs. These are now being carried forward. The remaining shell of the tooth is so thin as to be nearly transparent, and the etire rear portion is being filled with gold.

"And just to think," said Miss Brown, "I don't know who any of the three were, so I can't collect damages. And this ten dollars would have bought a hundred tea kettles, and so—but what's the use?"

RUMOR RAISES A STIR

(By Oliver P. Newman.)

Baltimore, June 28.—In spite of the excitement over the presidential nomination, a more than observable flurry shot through the dense convention crowds in the hotel lobbies the other evening, when the report flew from lip to lip:

"Roosevelt's here!"

Visions of a stampede, a big stick, a bolt and other awful things rose before the eyes of delegates, visitors and bosses. And the story was true. Roosevelt is here, but not T. R.

The particular Roosevelt in question in Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, the insurgent democratic state senator who put the skids under "Boss" Charles F. Murphy, of Tammany, when O'Gorman was elected United States senator.

"I'm a fifth cousin and nephew-in-law of T. R.," said Senator Roosevelt. "The rest of us in the family can't account for Cousin Theodore's being a republican, as all the others have staid true to the old Roosevelt traditions of democracy. It looks, however, as if he's about got back into the fold."

The country learned who John Kern, of Indiana, was in 1908, and since the Lorimer probe it's learned what he is. A story that emphasizes the latter is gaining circulation for the first time at Baltimore, where the Hoosier senator is helping effectively in that progressive fight.

It was when Senator Bailey was having trouble to elect Senator Martin, of Virginia," minority leader of the senate. He held a conference with the seventeen insurgents who refused to vote for Martin, and among other things said:

"Gentlemen, this puts me in an embarrassing position. I have pledged Senator Martin twenty-two votes, of which you are seventeen. I don't know what I shall tell him if you hold out."

"You might tell him," quietly remarked Senator Kern, "that seventeen of the twenty-two votes which you pledged him, unwarrantably, are not deliverable."

Luke Lea, the boyish new senator from Tennessee, six-foot, broad accordingly and wearing a smile that belies the stern vigor of his democracy—and his determined loyalty to Bryan all the time and to Wilson right now—is one of the potential figures in the convention, and is making friends faster than a dog can lick a skillet, the explanation being that if you ever look at Lea and shake hands with him you're his friend—and he's yours if you've an ounce of worthiness about you.

Just how much Lea loves Bryan is revealed by a story they're telling on him in the lobbies at Baltimore. It relates to the famous luncheon given Bryan by the Tennessee delegation in congress and by a committee from Memphis headed by the redoubtable Duke C. Bowers, grocery trust buster, when Memphis offered Bryan a million dollars to go there to live.

The chairman said he was so sure Bryan would accept that he had purchased Mr. Bryan's ticket for Memphis. Then he called on Lea, who said:

"Our chairman has unwittingly paid Mr. Bryan the highest compliment he could be paid. Had this been two years ago, before Mr. Bryan's policies had become stamped on our political life, our chairman would have said: 'I'm so sure Mr. Bryan will accept this invitation that I already obtained a pass to take him back to Memphis with us tonight.'"

WALL STREET IS GIVEN HARD JOLT

Led by Bryan, Convention Votes Repudiation of Morgan, Ryan, Belmont and Like Interests.

Baltimore, June 28.—William Jennings Bryan last night led the democratic convention into a declaration of progressiveness, unheard of in political history.

A resolution introduced by him, which was passed by a two-thirds majority, declared the convention opposed to the nomination of any candidate for president under obligation to J. Pierpont Morgan, Thomas F. Ryan, August Belmont or any "privilege-seeking class."

The convention was thrown into a furore by the proposition, which as originally introduced called for the withdrawal of Ryan and Belmont delegates from Virginia and New York, respectively. This part of the resolution was resented as invading the rights of sovereign states and when its full import became known boos and cat calls, jeers and hisses were mingled with handclapping, cheers and stamping of feet in the galleries and on the floor.

Flood Denounces Bryan.

Representative H. D. Flood, of Virginia, dramatically characterized the proposition as insolent and said it came from "the only man who desired to destroy the democratic party."

Former Governor McCorkle, of West Virginia, called it foolish. Mr. Bryan made the situation even more dramatic by asking Virginia and New York to request a modification of the resolution, and when they scorned the suggestion, he took the course himself.

From that moment sentiment changed and the early voting indicated that Mr. Bryan, as the exponent of progress, retained his hold upon democracy.

Was Thunderously Cheered.

Before reading his resolution Mr. Bryan asked unanimous consent for its immediate consideration. Many delegates demanded its reading before giving consent. The names of Morgan, Belmont and Ryan were greeted with hisses and the resolution thunderously cheered.

Consent to immediate consideration for his resolution was refused and Mr. Bryan asked for a suspension of the rules.

Debate which followed kept the convention in an uproar for two hours, in which cheers mingled with jeers and cat calls blended from the rival camps in greeting the various speakers.

What Mr. Bryan Said.

Bryan's speech on his resolution was in part as follows:

"This is an extraordinary resolution, but extraordinary conditions need extraordinary remedies. We are now engaged in the conduct of a convention that will place before this country the democratic nominee and I assume that every delegate in this convention is here because he wants that nominee elected.

"And it is in order that we may advance the cause of our candidate that I present this resolution. There are questions of which a court takes judicial notice and there are subjects upon which we can assume that the American people are informed, and there is not a delegate in this convention who does not know that an effort is being made right now to sell the democratic party into bondage to the predatory interests of this country. It is the most brazen, the most insolent, the most impudent attempt that has been made in the history of American politics to dominate a convention, stifle the honest sentiment of a people and make the nominee the bond-slave of the men who exploit the people of this country. (Applause and cheering.)

Calls Them Despots.

"I need not tell you that J. Pierpont Morgan and Thomas F. Ryan and August Belmont are three of the men who are connected with this great money trust of this country, who are despotic in their rule of the business of the country, and as merciless in their command of their slaves as any man in the country. (Applause.)

"Some one has said that we have no right to discuss the delegates who come here from a sovereign state."

Mr. Gilchrist—"I said that."

Colonel Bryan—"Yes, sir, I reply that if these men are willing to insult six and a half millions of democrats we ought to speak out against them and let them know we resent the insult. (Applause.)

"I, for one, am not willing that Thomas F. Ryan and August Belmont shall come here with their paid attorneys and seek secret council with the managers of this party (prolonged applause). No sense of politeness or courtesy to such men will keep me from protecting my party from the disgrace they inflict upon it (applause). Now, my friends, I cannot speak for you. You have your own responsibility, but if this is to be a convention run by these men, if our nominee is to be their representative and tool, I pray you to give us, who represent constituencies that do not want this, a chance to go on record with our protest against it (applause). If any of you are willing to nominate a candidate who represents these men—"

Mr. Bryan was interrupted by cheering and applause. Continuing, he said: —"or who is under obligation to these men, do it and take the responsibility. I refuse to take that responsibility. (Applause).

Makes a Proposition.

"Some have said that we haven't right to demand the withdrawal of delegates from this convention. I will make you a proposition. One of these men sits with New York and the other sits with Virginia. I make you this proposition: If the state of New York will take a poll of its vote and a majority of them —not Mr. Murphy, but a majority of the delegates (cheering and applause)— I repeat that if New York would, on roll call, where her delegates can have their names recorded and printed, ask for the withdrawal of the name of Mr. Belmont; and if Virginia will on roll call protest against the withdrawal of Mr. Ryan, I will then withdraw the last part of the resolution."

Mr. Flood, of Virginia, then said: "May I interrupt the gentleman?"

Mr. Bryan remarked: "Wait a moment; wait until I get through. I will then withdraw the last part of the resolution which demands the withdrawal of these men from the convention. I will withdraw the last part of the request of the states in which these gentlemen sit, but I will not withdraw the first part, that demands that our candidate shall be free from entanglement with them. (Loud applause).

As to Modification.

Speaking of the proposition to modify his resolution, Mr. Bryan said:

"Virginia has notified us, through two of her representatives, that she desires the last part of this resolution withdrawn as to her. If a member authorized to speak for New York will rise and ask that the last part—(hisses and cries of "no, no.")

"Does New York ask the withdrawal of the last part of the resolution?" (Hisses and cries of "no,no.")

A delegate asked: "Why don't you withdraw it yourself?"

Mr. Bryan—"I prefer to give New York the opportunity. Does New York refuse to make the request?" (Cries of "yes, yes.")

"Then I yield the floor to the opposition and reserve what time I have left to close the discussion." (Applause and hisses.)

The chair then recognized Former Governor McCorkle.

Mr. Flood again spoke and Mr. Bryan then closed the debate by saying: "Mr. Chairman and delegates, it was not necessary that the gentleman from Virginia should deliver an eulogy to that state. That was the state in which my father was born and I would be the last one to reflect on it. (Applause and hisses.) I know the democrats of Virginia and four years ago they refused to allow their leading public men to act as delegates unless they consented to go instructed for my third nomination. (Great applause and hisses.) It is not necessary for me to defend my own democracy. (Applause and hisses and yells.)

Reputation as a Democrat.

"My friends, when my reputation as a democrat needs to be defended (continued applause, hisses and yells.)

"My reputation as a democrat will not be worth defending (hoots and yells) my reputation as a democrat will not be worth defending whenever it becomes necessary to defend it against a charge made by a friend of Thomas F. Ryan's.

"I now withdraw (jeers and applause.) I do not intend that any democrat in this convention shall shield his negative vote against the principal part of the resolution by hiding behind the last part of this resolution. (Applause.) I intend that the men who think that the first part of this resolution is either wrong or unnecessary shall have a chance to say so on roll call, and in answer to the argument of the gentleman from West Virginia that this question ought not to be brought up now for fear it will disturb harmony, I present him the bible doctrine and I challenge him to deny it if he can. (Yelling and applause.) The bible doctrine 'If thy right hand offend thee, cut it off.' I am sure that if it's worth while to cut off the right hand to save the body it is worth while to cut off Morgan and Ryan and Belmont to save the democratic party." (Applause.)

Mr. Nixon demanded the vote, the resolution as amended was read and the roll then called.

Vote on the Roll Call.

The vote on the motion of Mr. Bryan to suspend the rules for immediate consideration of his resolution putting ban on any man for presidential nominee who is allied with J. P. Morgan, T. F. Ryan and August Belmont, etc.; and on the passage of the resolution was as follows:

THE BRYAN RESOLUTION AGAINST THE INTERESTS.

Baltimore, June 28.—The resolution introduced before the national convention by W. J. Bryan, and which precipitated a hot debate, follows:

"Resolved, That in this crisis in our party's career, and in our country's history, this convention sends greeting to the people of the United States, and assures them that the party of Jefferson and of Jackson is still the champion of popular government and equality before the law. As proof of our fidelity to the people, we hereby declare ourselves opposed to the nomination of any candidate for president who is the representative of or under obligation to J. Pierpont Morgan, Thomas F. Ryan, August Belmont or any other member of the privilege-hunting and favor-seeking class.

"Be it further resolved, That we demand the withdrawal from this convention of any delegate or delegates constituting or representing the above named interests."

The last paragraph was dropped before the vote was taken by which it was adopted.

BEAUTIFUL HAIR AT SMALL COST

A Simple Remedy Beautifies the Hair, Cures Dandruff, Stops Falling Hair.

KEEPS SCALP CLEAN

What a pity it is to see so many people with thin, wispy hair, faded or streaked with gray, and realize that most of these people might have soft, glossy, abundant hair of beautiful color and lustre if they would but use the proper treatment. There is no necessity for gray hair under sixty-five years of age and there is no excuse for anyone, young or old, having thin, straggling hair, either full of dandruff or heavy and rank smelling with excessive oil.

You can bring back the natural color of your hair in a few days and forever rid yourself of any dandruff and loose hairs, and make your hair grow strong and beautiful by using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy. For generations common garden Sage has been used for restoring and preserving the color of the hair; and Sulphur is recognized by Scalp Specialists as being excellent for treatment of hair and scalp troubles.

If you are troubled with dandruff or itching scalp, or if your hair is losing its color or coming out, get a fifty cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur from your druggist and notice the improvement in the appearance of your hair after a few days treatment. Special Agents, Meyer Bros Co.

"POET OF SIERRAS" POSES FOR MOVING PICTURES

"Moving pictures are poems; they are educational, beautiful and inspirational. Yet I will not go to see the pictures of myself because I see enough of myself at home.

"I am now doing my best work, but I won't talk about it.

"Take pictures of me among the trees and at the side of my stone walls. I will want the people to see that I have done something besides write poetry."

San Francisco, June 25.—Joaquin Miller, poet of the Sierras, posed recently with his daughter Juanita for motion pictures at his home, "The Heights," on top of the Berkeley hills.

The famous bard was shown walking in the grove of cypress trees he planted, by the stone wall he made, and seated on the steps of the home he built. The picture men wanted him to walk up to the tomb he constructed for his remains, but he was too feeble to make the climb.

"I can't make it," he said. "Like Abraham, I am afflicted with years. I have been sick too much to undertake such a trip now."

The poet claims to be doing his best work now, but refused to discuss it. It is said to be a poem commemorating the building of the Panama canal.

Miller was paid a substantial retainer for posing and will receive a royalty from the production of the film.

SEES SOME HARM IN FOLK DANCES

Speaker Says School Dances Lead to Evil Later in Life.

WATCH THE CHILD

Duluth, Minn., June 28.—The proposed holding of dances in the public schools of Duluth met with a jolt when the United Temperance society met at the Zion Norwegian Lutheran church and went on record as being unalterably opposed to the move.

The society also disproved of the teaching of folk dances to children, and decided not to take any action for the present against saloons which are alleged to be disregarding the liquor law.

The subject of dancing in schools was brought up through the reading of newspaper notices to the effect that an attempt would be brought before the school board to allow dancing in schools and that the motive is being fathered by school alumni associations and given assistance by members of the women's council.

"I cannot understand why members of the Women's council should favor dancing in schools," said the Rev. Swaney Nelson, pastor of the First Swedish Baptist church. "The council has other things to do besides furthering things which lead to the destruction of the home. The people whom we represent, which means a large population in the west end, are opposed to it, and I am in favor of this society going on record as unalterably opposed to it."

Mrs. E. Gustafson, president of the Scandinavian Women's Christian Temperance union, deplored the fact that folk dances were being taught in the institutions. "These folk dances," she said, "are the ones which are held by the lower elements of the countries of Europe, Russia, the Scandinavian peninsula, Finland and Germany.

"While they are innocent enough with the little children, it gives them an idea of dancing and the thought that dancing in all its stages may be proper. I think it a disgrace that our children and those of other parents, who are opposed to dancing, should be taught that which may tend to degrade them in later years."

"Schools are free from religion and they should be just as free from those things which are irreligious," said the Rev. Carl G. Olson, pastor of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church. "The teachers are not allowed to teach what the church would like and it is just as proper that they should not instruct in that which we believe is wrong.

"I am opposed to any form of dancing in the schools, because it brings my children in contact with it. I believe it would infuse a spirit which would later land them in the public dance halls. It is better to keep this form of temptation from the school than to allow it to exist and keep the children from it."

When your child has whooping cough be careful to keep the cough loose and expectoration easy by giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as may be required. This remedy will also liquify the tough mucus and make it easier to expectorate. It has been used successfully in many epidemics and is safe and sure. For sale by all dealers.

Nature's Way Is The Best.

Buried deep in our American forest we find bloodroot, queen's root, mandrake and stone root, golden seal, Oregon grape root and cherrybark. Of these Dr. R. V. Pierce made a pure glycerin extract which has been favorably known for over forty years. He called it "Golden Medical Discovery."

This "Discovery" purifies the blood and tones up the stomach and the entire system in Nature' own way. It's just the tissue builder and tonic you require when recovering from a hard cold, grip, or pneumonia. No matter how strong the constitution the stomach is apt to be "out of kilter" at times; in consequence the blood is disordered, for the stomach is the laboratory for the constant manufacture of blood. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery strengthens the stomach—puts it in shape to make pure, rich blood—helps the liver and kidneys to expel the poisons from the body. The weak, nervous, run-down, debilitated condition which so many people experience at this time of the year is usually the effect of poisons in the blood; it is often indicated by pimples or boils appearing on the skin, the face becomes thin—you feel "blue."

J. G. KENT, Esq.

"More than a week ago I was suffering with an awful cold in my head, throat, breast, and body," writes MR. JAMES G. KENT, of 710 L. Street, S. E., Washington, D. C. "Some called it La Grippe, some pneumonia. I was advised by a friend to try a bottle of your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I tried a bottle and it did me so much good that I feel safe in saying it is the greatest and best medicine that I ever took. My health is much better than it was before using your medicine. It does all you claim for it and is satisfactory."

INSANE MAN'S HOUSE A CASTLE.

Demented Victim of Policeman's Bullet Was Prepared for Siege.

Marion, Ind., June 28.—Interesting discoveries were made by the police today when they searched the home of the late John W. Votaw, the insane patient whom Police Captain James Thompson killed in self-defense recently while committing him to a state hospital at Indianapolis.

Votaw, who was 65 years old and unmarried, occupied a house on the edge of the city. More than five pounds of various poisons, several guns and a large quantity of ammunition were found in the house. Canned foodstuffs also were found and the police believe Votaw had prepared to barricade himself and resist officers who might attempt to invade his home.

It is now well known that not more than one case of rheumatism in ten requires any internal treatment whatever. All that is needed is a free application of Chamberlain's Liniment and massaging the parts at each application. Try it and see how quickly it will relieve the pain and soreness. Sold by all dealers.

The total production of gold in Australia in 1911 was valued at $61,920,000, as against $66,249,500 in 1910.

Another Idol Down.

Another time-honored idol of American politics went down with a smash when the democratic convention at Baltimore overturned the unit rule by which it has been the custom to bind the delegates from a state to vote as a unit on candidates, regardless of the individual preferences of the delegates or of the constituency which entrusted them with representative power. The issue came up in dealing with the Ohio case, but it established a precedent that is likely to be a rather potent force in American politics henceforth.

Some eighteen district delegates in the Buckeye state had been given instructions in the primaries of their respective districts to vote for the nomination of Wilson as president. When the Ohio state convention was held, with the Harmon forces in control, it adopted a resolution binding not only the delegates-at-large, but the district delegates as well from Ohio to cast their votes for Governor Harmon, the action being predicated upon the right of the majority to rule. The appeal was carried to the national convention, with the result that the Harmon delegates were turned over to Wilson.

It must be admitted that upon the basis of party action the unit rule has cut an important figure in many instances, and yet in the light of the present tendency toward primaries and other means of direct expression of the will of the people as to each individual question, the unit rule manifestly could not stand. It had long ago outlived its usefulness, if, indeed, it ever had any beyond party mechanical equipment. The new view, sanctioned by the democratic convention, then, amounts to a desire that the unit of expression be carried beyond the state and down to the district itself to the end that the delegates may more accurately reflect the sentiment of their individual communities. The action is distinctly in line with progress in politics and government.

From Indianapolis comes the announcement that 28,000 red bandanna handkerchiefs are in storage in that city, ready to be utilized in setting the Hoosier state aflame when Colonel Roosevelt's official progressive campaign is opened in Indiana. When you see 'em you may know that in the opinion of the Roosevelt board of strategy in Indiana the psychological moment has arrived for something to be started.

The Indiana Association of Presidential Postmasters is holding its convention in Indianapolis, and while the printed program provides for discussions of "shop" subjects, it is a pretty safe guess that in the light of recent political developments, most of the members will give chief consideration to the imminently vital theme, "Where Are We At as Postmasters?"

The amateur aviator who fell with his machine a distance of some seventy-five feet at Terre Haute and escaped injury ought to have no difficulty in getting professional engagements with the rest of the air navigators, instructing them just how he was able to do it.

And Governor Hadley is also beginning to suspect that the colonel has mistaken Rooseveltism for the real, genuine, blown-in-the-bottle progressivism.

APPRAISING COMPETENCY.

How far we have advanced from the idea that school teaching was to be secured as cheaply as possible, still lingering in some backward districts, is evidenced by the declaration of E. J. Tobin, Cook county superintendent of schools, in charge of those outside Chicago, that women are not competent to teach who agree to give their services for less than $50 a month. Many last year got only $35, and the year before but $25 and $30; but Mr. Tobin insists that the minimum under his supervision must be $50, and any woman who accepts a contract for less will have it canceled. His idea is that those he is certifying to the school directors as capable are worth that much and he does not want any who are not.

The pull-back attitude, now happily disappearing, that grudged the money spent for teaching never took into consideration that cheapness meant cheap teaching, and that in the long run it was a wasteful economy. Putting incompetents in charge of a class because they cost less meant either loss of time to pupils or loss of education. While the niggardly board was saving a few dollars it was throwing away what it was paying. Nowadays we appreciate the value of good teaching better, and at the same time the fact that a really competent teacher must have spent sufficient time in becoming competent to justify the expectation of a reasonable return. Mr. Tobin's assumption that those who offer to take the jobs at reduced rates are probably the best judges of their competency is therefore logical.

FIRST OR THIRD.

If the democrats at Baltimore do not decide to make the people's fight this year, they may depend upon it that the true issues of the campaign will be threshed out between the two fiercely hostile factions of the republican party. Democrats may command the situation or they may conduct a side-show, as they please.

The strife at Chicago revealed the point of cleavage among the people. Those who stand pat on plutocracy and privilege are in control of the republican organization, while all about them roll the thunders of protest and revolt.

A democracy which cannot or will not from the very outset of its deliberations take the right side in this emergency may easily in November find itself the third party in numerical importance at the polls.

LEAPS FROM BOAT TO SAVE.

River Steamer's Clerk Hero of Rescue Seen by Hundreds.

Wilmington, Del., June 28.—While cruising on the Delaware river with several friends in his motor boat, "Threeo," C. H. Pride of 530 East Seventh street, fell overboard and when he came to the surface the launch was so far away that the occupants could not help him. The Wilson line steamer City of Philadelphia was coming down the river and the captain saw the drowning man struggling in the water. Realizing that he would not have time to launch a lifeboat, he sent the big steamer ahead at high speed and ran close to where Pride was trying to keep afloat. Harry Pierce, clerk on the boat, leaped from the deck, caught Pride and held him up until the crew tossed him a line, and both men were pulled on board. The rescue was witnessed by several hundred passengers on the steamer, and Pierce was given a big ovation when he was pulled over the railing.

Greeley, Col., June 28.—This city may add a woman to its police force as the result of the suggestion of many mothers, who declare a woman could best deal with girls and all matters pertaining to the welfare of the children. The suggestion was made at a meeting of sixty Greeley mothers, following a talk given them at their request by Chief of police Camp. Greeley women have been quietly conducting a public welfare investigation and this meeting was one of a series.

WILL 1912 BE LIKE 1824?

What if there are three political parties in the field this year, nearly equal in number, with the socialists sapping the strength of each and so mixing up the vote in November that no candidate can get a majority in the electoral college?

In that case the election would be thrown into the house of representatives as now constituted, with its heavy democratic majority. The house, under the constitution, must choose a candidate from those receiving the three highest votes in the electoral college. Doubtless the Baltimore nominee, even if third in the race would be chosen with a whoop.

The electoral college could legally go entirely outside the list of candidates voted upon by the people, but probably would be promptly and unanimously lynched if it attempted to take such a liberty with custom and unwritten law.

Only one president of the United States was ever elected by the house. This was John Quincy Adams. The presidential election of 1824 fell in the "era of good feeling," brought about by the administration of President James Monroe. There were no clearly defined parties. Three popular leaders divided the vote of the south. They were Andrew Jackson of Tennessee, Henry Clay of Kentucky, and William H. Crawford of Georgia.

Adams had the solid support of New England and New York and picked up a few more votes in the border states. The electoral college voted as follows:

Total vote, 261. Necessary to choice, 131. Andrew Jackson, 99; John Quincy Adams, 84; W. H. Crawford, 41; Henry Clay, 37.

There was, of course, no choice. Clay was eliminated by the provision of the constitution which confined the choice to the three highest on the list, but Clay, as the most popular man in the house of representatives, found himself in the position of president maker. He was friendly to Crawford, but Crawford was in precarious health, suffering from a stroke of paralysis. John C. Calhoun had been chosen vice-president by a vote of 182 in the electoral college.

Clay didn't want to make Calhoun president, as he would have done by electing the sick man, Crawford, to the presidency. Strongly opposed to Jackson also, he threw his influence to Adams.

The house of representatives, voting by states, decided as follows: Adams, 13; Jackson, 7; Crawford, 4.

What a howl went up! They didn't have steam rollers in those days, but they knew all about "deals" and "dickers," and it was hotly charged that Adams and Clay had disposed of the presidency in a disreputable bargain. The charge was not dissipated when President Adams promptly made Henry Clay his secretary of state. John Randolph of Roanoke denounced what he called "this alliance between the Puritan and the Blackleg." Adams, one of the most conscientious of men, did not

BRYAN'S ATTACK ON MORGAN, RYAN AND BELMONT SENSATION OF CONVENTION.

J. PIERPONT MORGAN.

THOMAS F. RYAN.

AUGUST BELMONT

Baltimore, Md., June 28.—No more sensational incident ever occurred in a national political convention than the presentation of the resolution of William J. Bryan attacking the influences represented by J. Pierpont Morgan, Thomas F. Ryan and August Belmont, the two latter being seated in the convention as delegates. Ryan from West Virginia and Belmont from New York. After the clause asking the unseating of these two delegates and any others admittedly conected with the three interests specified had been eliminated, both Ryan and Belmont voted to support the resolution, as did the entire New York delegation. Their vote was cast in a cynical spirit, and with a view of casting ridicule upon its author.

ballots before trying to reach agreements with opposing forces.

There seemed today to be little chance of a stampede. Any attempt to nominate Mr. Bryan would meet with stubborn resistance from some of the southern states, instructed primarily for Underwood and held subject to his release and from the conservative element, including possibly some of the so-called Clark states.

Bryan Was Storm Center.

Mr. Bryan was the storm center of a remarkable fight in the convention last night, precipitated by him at the opening of the evening session and continuing nearly three hours. There was much speculation as to what his purpose was when he arose almost immediately after the fall of the gavel and asked immediate consideration of a resolution which would have thrown Thomas F. Ryan, of the Virginia delegation, and August Belmont, of the New York delegation, out of the convention.

This move of course threw the convention into an uproar, during which Congressman H. D. Flood, of Virginia, accused the Nebraskan of being the only democrat in the country anxious "to destroy the party."

Mr. Bryan seemed to fairly revel in the fight. The delegates had come to the convention under the impression that the nominating speeches were to be proceeded with at once and were not prepared for the Bryan resolution, which came without a warning of any sort.

Virginia in Protest.

Virginia protested loudly against the "insolent proposition," while New York sat in silent disregard of Mr. Bryan's suggestion, that the delegation be polled as to whether or not Mr. Belmont's presence in the convention was desired. The storm became so great that Mr. Bryan decided to strike out that part of the resolution which would have dismissed Messrs. Ryan and Belmont from the convention, but insisted upon a vote on the first paragraph, which read:

"Resolved, That in this crisis in our party's career and in our country's history, this convention sends greeting to the people of the United States and assures them that the party of Jefferson and of Jackson is still the champion of popular government and equality before the law. As a proof of our fidelity to the people we hereby declare ourselves opposed to the nomination of any candidate for president who is the representative of or under any obligation to J. Pierpont Morgan, Thomas F. Ryan, August Belmont or any other member of the privilege-seeking class."

Even New York Voted for It.

Many of the delegates seemed to misapprehend the resolution as the voting began and there were many "noes," which soon afterward were changed to ayes, and the resolution was adopted by a wide margin over a two-thirds vote. Even the New York delegation "not to be led into a trap," as one of them expressed it, voted for the resolution, to which so much objection was made, and which was withdrawn by Mr. Bryan, read:

"Be it further resolved that we demand the withdrawal from this convention of any delegates or delegates constituting or representing the above interests."

While the storm aroused by Mr. Bryan was at its height there were many hurried conferences on the floor, and anxious inquiries as to what was intended by the unusual resolution. Nearly every one thought it must have some bearing on the presidential nomination. The Nebraskan would vouchsafe no other information than that the resolution spoke for itself. The conservatives declared it would cement the opposition to Mr. Bryan, while the latter's friends claimed today that the result of the fight, as well as the result of the first ballot, indicted that Mr. Bryan was still in a position "to dictate the nominee."

Picturesque in Many Ways.

The all night session of the convention was picturesque in many ways. In all, there were about eight hours of oratory and demonstrations. The Clark and Wilson forces were the principal contestants in the struggle to see which could keep up the cheering longest. The Clark demonstration, the first big one of the evening, lasted one hour and five minutes. The Wilson people, when their turn came, declined to quiet down until after they had passed the Clark record and added about ten minutes to it. During both demonstrations many outsiders invaded the delegates' section of the hall. During the Wilson outburst several marching clubs came into the hall.

Hunger and Fatigue Tell.

As a rule the delegates listened patiently to the somewhat lengthy nominating and seconding speeches, seeming to realize that this rhetorical maze must be threaded before the serious work of voting was begun. After day had broken and the artificial lights in the big armory were giving way before the gray shafts streaming through the windows, the pangs of hunger and the fatigue of the long sitting grew upon them and they began to call to the speakers to make what they had to say as brief as possible. The wiser men among the scheduled orators heeded this advice. Others, who attempted to make the eagle scream and the flag wave in wordy pictures, were treated with scant courtesy.

Last State Called.

It was 6:43 a. m. when the last state was called and the last speech had been made. Inside the auditorium only a single line of arc lights gleamed where there had been a score before. Outside the light of day filtered its way through a heavy veil of clouds. But the clouds were no heavier than the eyes of the delegates, and they greeted the beginning of the first roll call with a whoop. The test vote was carried on with great rapidity and little or no confusion. The galleries were all but forsaken.

Strangely enough, the women seemed to outnumber the men among the spectators who had spent the night at the hall, and were also much more keenly alert to the proceedings. Two or three of them had collapsed into sound sleep. Men were asleep and snoring in groups.

It required half an hour to call the roll and figure the results. Then came the motion to recess and it was carried despite the throaty-voiced protests of some delegates who were ready to go on with the battle to the bitter end. The session was over, the big hall was emptied in a few minutes.

appeared before the committee in the interest of labor he was asked by Mr. Bryan, who is the dominating factor in the committee, whether the Denver labor plank was not satisfactory.

"It was," replied Mr. Gompers, "reaffirm it and we will be satisfied."

"Re-write that plank," replied Mr. Bryan, "but put it in half the words and make each of them bristle."

Is Carefully Guarded.

With the exception of the declaration regarding Mississippi river improvements, not a single plank of the platform had found its way outside the committee room when work was resumed today. It has been held in the hands of a stalwart secretary, who guards it as he would a cabinet of jewels; but its outline and most of its declarations have become familiar to frequenters of the committee's precincts.

Giving special prominence to the tariff, an effort will be made to demonstrate that the republican policy of protection has been responsible in large degree for the present high cost of living and for the development of trusts and monopolies.

There will be a positive declaration for revision downward to the basis of a tariff for revenue only, with especial stress upon the word "only"; but, to meet the demands largely of Senator Newlands and at the same time endorse the piecemeal revision of the house of representatives, the opinion will be expressed that the reductions should be made gradually and after the most careful deliberation, with a view of disturbing business to as slight an extent as is possible to disturb business by tariff revision.

Aldrich Plan Denounced.

It is hoped to so shape the financial plank as to convince the bankers of the country that there is a possibility of revising the finances without resorting to the central reserve plan suggested by Senator Aldrich and the monetary commission, of which, until recently, he was the head. The Aldrich plan is denounced on the theory that it would place the issuance of currency and its continued control when issued in the hands of practically one business corporation, which it is contended would be the result of adoption of the Aldrich ideas. At the same time, the committee would recognize the necessity of protecting the banks and their customers against the conditions which arose in 1907, and it is believed that this can be done by the distribution of the government funds throughout the country in a way to make them available in case of monetary disturbances.

On Trust Prosecution.

Both the sub-committee and the full committee are agreed upon the desirability of criminal prosecutions against the men back of the trusts. There has been some contention, especially on the part of Senator O'Gorman, that if the criminal provisions of the law as it now stands should be enforced, the ends of justice would be subserved. While agreeing with him, a majority of the members take the position that the fact that these provisions have not been enforced is good evidence that they will not be so long as they are left in the least problematical. The tendency, therefore, is to declare for amendments which will render the law so unequivocal as to leave no excuse for failure of future enforcement.

RECEIVER APPOINTED.

Judge Woods Names July 13 as Creditors' Meeting Date in Reiff Bankruptcy.

Reiff's business partner was this morning appointed receiver and ordered to continue the business until a trustee is appointed. Reiff's liabilities are scheduled at $11,859 and the assets are $8,116.

sultation and have been working in harmony as the lines have been formed, and they will go over the situation before the balloting is resumed this afternoon. The New York delegation has an element of about one-third of its strength favorable to Wilson. But the predominating element of about sixty votes is for any one who has reasonable assurance of carrying New York.

Thus far the New York delegation has reached this stage: At the caucus yesterday they agreed on a complimentary vote for Harmon. They may follow this with a complimentary vote for Gaynor and they probably will continue the complimentary votes until they can see more definitely their way to make the vote of the Empire state most effective. Tammany caucus will be held at 3 o'clock today and the Harmon leaders will go into conference about the same time.

Senator Kern said that he did not believe that the Bryan resolution would have any effect upon the candidates now urged that it was understood that Mr. Bryan put forward the resolution on his own responsibility.

Call It Bryan Mistake.

Leaders opposing Mr. Bryan in the convention openly assert that he made a great mistake in offering his last night's resolution and declare that it means the breaking of the back of Gov. Wilson's candidacy. After one or two more ballots it was learned today an effort will be made to break up the block of 71 votes cast by Pennsylvania delegates for Gov. Wilson.

That the second ballot, which is to come just after the convention meets this afternoon will show many switches of votes is confidently asserted by the leaders as the under-play of politics developed during the day.

National Committeeman Roger Sullivan, of Illinois, has heretofore indicated to his friends that he was unable to say what the Illinois delegation with their 58 votes would do after the first ballot. Illinois voted solidly for Clark under the unit rule. Some delegations there are that regard instructions as binding only on the first ballot.

Efforts will be made to conclude the entire business of the convention by late tonight as it is feared that enough delegates, becoming weary with their labors, may depart for their homes and leave the convention without a quorum.

Will Stick to Harmon.

The New York delegation decided in caucus late this afternoon to stick to Judson Harmon on the second ballot and then vote for Clark on the third ballot unless unusual developments arise. As to Underwood, Kern and others, future caucuses will determine.

Chas. F. Murphy announced that it was not definite that New York's 90 votes should go to Clark on the third ballot.

"We will vote for Harmon until the delegation is polled," said Mr. Murphy. "That may come on the third ballot. It may not."

Mrs. A. L. Randall received with her daughters and guest. The doors and windows were opened to the sunlight and breeze of the afternoon and cool and tempting refreshments and pretty flowers were enjoyed and admired by the company of pretty maids in summer gowns and hats, making in all a charming sight. In the receiving room many jardinieres of daisies lent their brightness to the scene, while bachelor buttons in the room where punch was served were an unusual touch of pretty coloring. The diningroom was gay with outdoor flowers of brighter hue. Assisting during the afternoon were Miss Helen Caldwell, Miss Marjory Pickard and Miss Dorothy White, while Mrs. Randall had the assistance of Mrs. Edward White, Mrs. James E. Elliott and Miss Ruth Randall. The assisting young girls remained for supper and with the addition of a number of young men will enjoy an informal dance this evening at the Randall homestead in East Berry street, where they will be the guests of Mrs. Mary Randall, who is grandmother to the two hostesses of the afternoon.

Shea—Diebold.

One of the prettiest of church weddings of the week was that of Miss Cecelia Diebold and Mr. John P. Shea, which took place on Wednesday morning at Arcola, in St. Patrick's church, with Rev. E. J. Mungovan officiating at the nuptial mass. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Diebold, of Arcola, and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Shea, of Dawson street, and is a telegraph operator for the Pennsylvania company. The wedding was attended by many friends and relatives of the bridal couple. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Edith Diebold, and entered the church with her father. Mr. Vincent Shea, a brother of the groom, was his attendant. The bride wore a handsome gown of white marquisette over satin and trimmed with point and baby Irish lace. She wore a hat trimmed with ostrich feathers and maline and held her prayerbook with marker of white ribbon and rosebuds. The bridesmaid was dressed in pink voile and carried pink sweetpeas. The reception and wedding breakfast was held at the home of the bride. About one hundred and twenty-five guests were present. The bride and groom left in the afternoon for a trip to Chicago. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Shea will be at home in this city at 440 West DeWald street. Out of town guests at the wedding were Mrs. S. Erb—Bartels.

There was a pretty wedding on Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Kramer, of Pleasant avenue, when their sister, Miss Lydia Bartels, and Mr. Fred Erb were united in marriage by Rev. William Moll, pastor of Emanuel Lutheran church. The bride looked very dainty and girlish in a pretty gown of white silk trimmed handsomely with lace. She wore a corsage bouquet of pink sweetpeas and white rosebuds. The ceremony was performed in the bay window of the living room of the Kramer home and a beautiful decoration of palms and flowers made an appropriate background for the bridal couple. A delicious wedding supper was served as soon as congratulations had been offered. The bride's table was arranged with smilax, flowers and pink maline, which was draped from the chandelier to the corners of the table. Later in the evening the bride and groom went to their own home, 507 Madison street, where they have gone to housekeeping. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Erb, of Madison street and is a machinist employed at Hattersley's. Both bride and groom have a wide circle of friends.

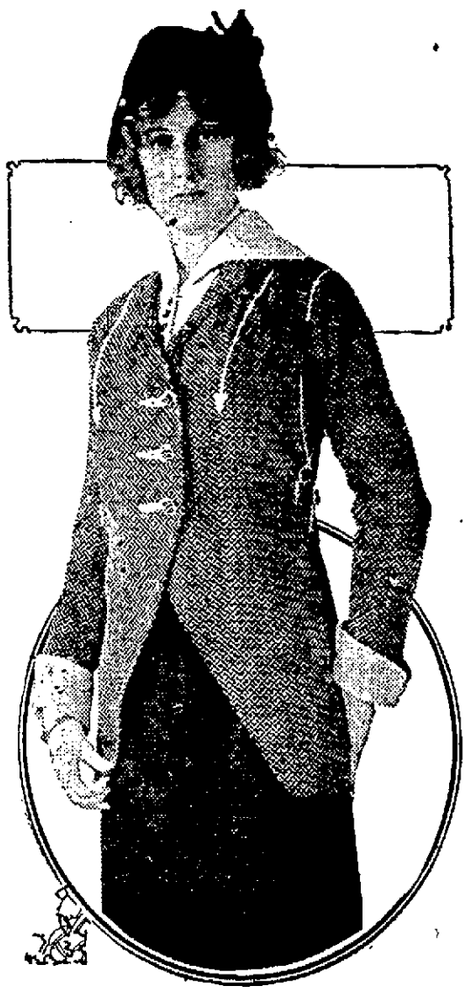
WHAT WE'LL WEAR NEXT FALL.

Glimpses of the Newest Parisian Creations by Photograph and Letter from The Sentinel's Fashion Expert.



(By Maybelle Mortimer.)

Paris, June 22.—The first authentic information that the great designers of Paris are sending out is that for street wear this fall coats of different materials and colors from the skirts will be worn with the plainest as well as the richest tailor-made costumes.

The models which I have seen are so beautiful and the idea of a coat different from the skirt is such a sensible and economical fashion that I am sending you pictures of some of them. Let no one make a mistake in buying her fall costume. Skirts are to be wider and the handwriting on the wall warns against the straight line. All the skirts I see over here are much longer—most of them lie on the floor two or three inches all the way around. Cab hire is so cheap in Paris that practically everyone rides who can afford to dress stylishly. However, I do not think American women will give up the freedom and comfort of the short skirt. We are too fond of walking untrammelled.

Poiret still clings to his narrow effects, carried out with more or less oriental tendencies. No designer in Paris has had more to say about the styles of all femininity than Poiret during the last two seasons. He has dash and originality, and although he is almost too pronounced to be taken up entirely by the conservative American dresser, yet a touch from the great designing house of Poiret can be added to many gowns with splendid effect.

Mme. Paquin has not yet spoken, but it can be said with confidence that she will bring out this fall some modification of the pannier.

Nearly all the street coats I have seen so far are much more fitted to the figure than those of last year. Most of them are cut away in front as well. Skirts have all sorts of unexpected ways of putting in fullness. A swagger street frock from Berruerd illustrates this. The skirt is of black broadcloth cut in the conventional narrow manner except in one side there is a section of kilt pleats reaching from the belt to the hem. The coat to be worn with this is of black and white checked velvet well over the hips in length and fastened with three buttons over the bust from which it is cut away showing the skirt. The buttonholes are made of white silk and there are little arrowheads and stitching of white silk from the shoulder around to the bust, on the front seam, which is used instead of a dart to bring the coat in somewhat at the waist and obviate the straight line. The collar and suffs are white broadcloth. The collar is made in Robespeare style. This kind of collar bids high for popular favor this fall.

The little hat worn with this tailored costume reminds one of the bonnets worn by the little old ladies of today. It's a Victorian bonnet, such as the late queen of England used to wear, without strings.

It is a great change from the hats we have been wearing, as it sets back from the face and shows the hair almost back to the crown of the head.

Hitherto any woman who showed more than the tip of her nose and chin after she had adjusted her hat properly was very much behind the times.

MUSIC STUDENTS GIVE RECITAL.

Large Audience Enjoys Recital by Pupils of European School of Music.

A recital of music pupils that gave a large audience much genuine enjoyment was heard last evening in Elks' hall. The pupils were students of the European School of Music and their work reflected credit on individual teachers and was representative of the high standard of music for which this school has always stood. Advance piano pupils under the instruction of George Bailhe, who is at the head of the school, displayed marked progress in every feature of piano work. Those students were Miss Leah Gardner, of Wabash, and Misses Mabel Hiser, Edith Foster and Helene Spindler, of this city. A breadth of musical comprehension was apparent in the playing of each one. Miss apparent in the playing of each one. Miss her playing of the Chopin polonaise in E flat was a clean and brilliant performance. Miss Hiser's number presented difficulties in entirely another direction and her rhythm and interpretation of the Singing Marche Guerriere and the bigness of her tone were of an artistic character. Miss Foster conquered a momentary nervousness with admirable skill and then maintained her poise and played the Chopin ballade in G minor with beauty of color and considerable poetic feeling. Miss Spindler handled the MacDowell Sarabande and the St. Saens toccato in a masterly way, technically without criticism and interpretatively with more abandon to a feeling for musical expression than ever before.

Other piano numbers of less advanced pupils were a Mozart minuet by Miss Luella Fleckenstein and a Bach invention and Thome's La Naiade by Miss Hazel Wagner, both of whom did very well.

The violin students, Miss Wanetah Lacey, a young girl with an evidently true ear for pitch, played Thaumerei very well indeed. Miss Christine Pape, who has facility of wrist and finger and a big tone of pretty quality as her natural assets and who is working hard to overcome a tendency to get off pitch, played a Raff cavatine and a Gossec gavotte with admirable technique and in excellent style. Roy Zimmerman, a young man of decided musical ability and taste for the violin, played the seventh air with variations by de Beriot and in spite of manifest nervousness did very creditable work. Messrs. Paul Saurer and Edward Cranston were the only representatives of the school in vocal work. Mr. Cranston has an excellent barytone voice and his work was pleasing and met with appreciative applause. Mr. Saurer sang twice, once to take the place of Dean McMurray, who who could not be present. Mr. Saurer has a fine voice of beautiful quality and a feeling for musical expression that is convincing. His singing was one of the pleasures of the recital.

The teachers of the school who were represented by pupils on the program were: George Bailhe, piano; Gaston Bailhe, violinist; Helen Nussbamu, piano; Mabel Hiser, piano; Carlile Tucker, voice.

As Gaston Bailhe has been at Hope hospital for ten days recovering from an operation for appendicitis, his pupils had not received any recent preparation for the recital, and their work was all the more worthy of praise.

REQUESTED RECIPES.

Pie Crust.

Take one cupful of flour and one heaping tablespoonful of lard. Mix well, either with the hands or a fork; add cold water, a little at a time, to make the right stiffness. Divide this into halves, roll to suit the pan. The trimmings will make a shell for soft pie the next day.

Strawberry Water Ice.

Take four cupfuls of strawberries, four cupfuls of water, two cupfuls sugar, one teaspoonful lemon juice. Ice and salt.

Put the sugar and water on to boil and boil five minutes. Set aside to get cold. Mash the berries very fine and strain through fine strainer. Add to the sugar and water. Add the lemon and put into freezer. Close and put the ice and salt around the can alternately, the same as for ice cream. Let it stand five minutes and then turn ten minutes. Remove the dasher and pack the same as ice cream, with ice and salt. It must be frozen as hard as ice cream. Serve in sherbet cups or ice cream glasses. It is most refreshing.

Cocoa.

Take two quarts of good, rich milk, put in a double boiler and let it come to a boil. Take two tablespoonfuls of cocoa, dissolve in a little hot water and add to the boiling milk. Sweeten to taste, simmer for a few minutes after adding the cocoa and serve. While simmering the egg beater may be worked in the cocoa, churning it to a froth. Put a little of the froth into each cup before filling.

Macaroon Ice Cream.

Dry, pound and measure one cup of macaroons, add to one quart of cream, then add three-fourths of a cup of sugar and a tablespoonful of vanilla. Freeze, using three quarts finely cut ice to one part rock salt. Give the cream a seasonable touch by placing a ring of fresh ripe strawberries around it. Roll the berries in powdered sugar just before serving them.

TO PALE THIN PEOPLE

Meyer Bros. Co. Offers to Pay for Samose if It Does Not Make Thin People Fat.

Pale, thin people are simply suffering from want of nourishment. They may eat enough, but their food is not properly digested and does them no good.

Samose, the remarkable flesh forming food, should be used by all who are pale, weak and thin. It mingles with the food and aids assimilation, so that when taken for a short time, nature will soon assert her normal powers, and the food that is eaten will give strength and good flesh.

The woman who longs for rosy cheeks and the plumpness of beauty should use Samose. The man who wants to be strong and well and gain health and good flesh will find his desires accomplished by Samose.

Such remarkable results have followed the use of Samose that Meyer Bros. Co. is willing to pay for the treatment if it does not give the desired results. They make this offer generally and want all who are thin, weak and out of health to get a box of Samose from them on those terms.

DANCING FROCKS.

Dancing gowns will come in for a great share of attention this summer, and while young girls will revel in those elegant simplicities of exquisite laces and old world taffetas which are so cleverly blended into the artistic modes for evening wear, young matrons will lean towards the clever color harmonies of chiffons and embroideries which vail the more brilliant silks and satins of their foundation.

The range of colorings is greater than ever, and the gradient hues of one particular color provides variety in plenty. It is possible to go through the whole gamut of one particular favorite hue and yet have frocks individual enough for a score of festive occasions.

Then, after exhausing the possibilities of a really inexhaustible range, there are all the combinations of color harmonies to be considered.

Construction work is progressing on the Trans-Uruguayan railway from Colonia, opposite Buenos Aires, almost due north to San Luis, on the northern frontier, where it will be linked with the Brazilian railway system. This line, together with its branches, will be 425 miles long.

AMERICAN FRUIT IN GREAT DANGER

Experts Declare Reports False That Harmful Pest is Gone.

FRUIT FLY SCARCE

San Francisco, Cal., June 28.—Professor Henry H. Severin, entomologist of the College of Hawaii, accompanied by William J. Hartung, a Hawaiian scientist, arrived on board the Honolulan, of the Mattern line, from the Hawaiian islands to start a campaign for the quarantining of Hawaiian fruits for the purpose of killing off the Mediterranean fruit fly pest. Professor Severin charges that Inspector H. A. Weinland, sent to the islands by the state horticultural commission of California to investigate the fly, is incompetent. Mr. Weinland, who returned on board the same steamship, refused to discuss conditions until he makes his report to the commission.

Professor Severin asserts that his purpose in coming here is to appear before the California fruit growers' convention at Santa Barbara. He asserts that reports that the fly pest has been wiped out in the islands are false. He declares that Weinland has been absolutely unsuccessful in his attempt to curb the pest.

Mr. Weinland recently reported to the horticultural commission that the pest had almost disappeared in the quarantined districts and that there was no further danger of importing it to California. Professor Severin flatly contradicts this.

"The campaign against the Mediterranean fruit fly in Hawaii at present is a ridiculous farce and a useless and extravagant waste of money," said Professor Severin. "California is being deceived. Unless a general quarantine of Hawaiian fruits is declared this state is in imminent danger of the pest getting a strong foothold on this coast.

"Every effort has been made by the Hawaiian fruit growers and other kindred interests in the islands to prevent Mr. Hartung and myself from coming to California to tell the truth about the fruit fly pest. Threats were made, and we were warned that if we left we had better not attempt to return."

Mr. Weinland said that the charges made by Professor Severin were not new to him, but he refused to talk about them. He admitted, however, that his return was due to the activities of Professor Severin and the fact that he was coming here with the announced intention of attempting to cause a sensation and a fruit fly scare before the California fruit growers' convention.

Mr. Weinland had been stationed at the islands for six months.

NO BATH IN SEVEN YEARS.

Woman Now Wants Divorce From Her Wealthy Spouse.

Plymouth, N. H., June 28.—Mrs. Ella F. Benson told Judge Quinn, in the divorce court, that in the seven years that she lived with her husband, Edward E. Benson, a wealthy cranberry bog owner of Wareham, he never took a bath. She also told the court that she married him when she was sixteen years old. In describing their marriage, she said her husband drove up to her home in a buggy when they had known each other for six months, and asked her to take a ride with him. They drove to the minister's house. There has been no engagement. "Before I knew it," she told the court, "I was his wife. He neglected me since the first day we were married. He often went to bed with all his clothes on. I was only sixteen when we were married and he is about fifty-three years old now. I never have been able to find out his real age." Mrs. Benson, who is pretty, charged cruel and abusive treatment and exhibited a razor that she said her husband had threatened her with. Judge Quinn took the case under advisement.

ALLIGATORS ARE LIKE CATS.

Although Washed Away in a Flood, They Find Their Home.

St. Louis, June 28.—Charles Harner, superintendent of the City Water company in East St. Louis, is trying to figure out how two alligators which disappeared from a settling basin at the time of the high water in May, when they evidently were washed back into the river, have managed to find their way back to their old home.

Two years ago Lee Aldrich, one time secretary to the chief of police, made a trip to Florida, and when he returned presented Horner two baby alligators. Horner placed them in one of the settling basins at the pumping station where they grew and thrived until they were about five feet long.

Last May the two alligators were washed out of the basin and were not seen again until this week, when Horner found them enjoying their old abode. He believes they were drawn into the basin from the river through the big intake pipe.

SEES "DADDY" SIGN PLEDGE.

Indianapolis, June 28.—The appearance of a four-year-old boy in a police court stopped the heavy morning grind for a time. The first time he was noticed was when he climbed up on the brass railing so high that the top of his curly yellow head and his blue eyes could be seen by the judge.

"Are you a boy or a girl?" asked the judge.

"I's a boy," he said. "This is my daddy."

Harry Cline, the "daddy," was in police court for the first time in the twenty years he had lived in Indianapolis, he said. He was charged with drunkenness. He signed the pledge at the request of Judge Collins and left with his son. He lives at No. 212 South Pine street, and is employed as engine man in a boiler room.

GIRLS' JOKE JARS SCHOOL.

Principal Reads Riot Act and Hosiery Soon Becomes Normal.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 28.—Gasps of amazement, followed by hysterical giggles, echoed through the auditorium of the high school when a score of girl graduates entered for the morning exercises, each wearing one black and one white silk stocking as a novel means of advertising a minstrel show which is to be given within a few days by the sorority of which they are members.

Among the first to see the odd hosiery display was Principal Henry H. Miller, and to say he was shocked and amazed beyond measure would be putting it mildly. He hastily called the girls into a classroom and read the riot act, after which they were subjected to the further ignominity of retiring to the darkest recesses of the auditorium under charge of one of the women teachers. When they emerged from this ordeal each girl displayed hose that matched and the exercises went on without further interruption.

E. W. Beatty, solicitor for the Canadian Pacific railway, stated before the Dominion railway commission, that the company had ordered 250 new engines and 12,500 cars. It is believed that this is the largest amount of rolling stock ever placed on order at one time in Canada.

INFLAMED KIDNEYS

Medical writers declare it incurable after the sixth month whether albumenous or not.

The average man prefers to think of it as "kidney trouble" and lets it go but the census for 1900 shows this appalling fact—out of 63,000 deaths from kidney troubles over nine-tenths of them (58,000) took the form called "Bright's Disease" although it is quite probable that nine-tenths of these up to the last moment thought of it as and called it "kidney trouble" when as a matter of fact the only possible hope laid through treatment for Bright's Disease.

Until Fulton's Renal Compound was worked out we never knew of a recovery in a case of chronic Bright's Disease. Since then inflammation of the kidneys whether albumenous or not, or whether called "kidney trouble" or "Bright's Disease," or whether six months or six years standing, often yields where patients have fair hearts and recuperative power.

If you have had kidney trouble over six months, no matter what you call it, if the books are true you have something to seriously consider.

Fulton's Renal Compound can be had of D. & N. Pharmacy, 624 Calhoun St. Ask for pamphlet. We desire to hear from and advise with those not improving the third week. Write John J. Fulton Co., San Francisco, Cal.

What Lafollette Thinks About It Now!

Wisconsin Senator in Signed Article, Says Alleged Progressives Backed T. Roosevelt; That They and He Are Responsible for Dividing Real Progressives in Their First National Contest and for Bringing Ridicule and Contempt on a Great Cause—Appeals to Real Progressives to Be on Guard and Keep Their Powder Dry.

(Editor's Note: The following leading editorial, written by Senator Robert M. LaFollette, is printed in LaFollette's Magazine, issued today. It is headed, "Theodore Roosevelt and the Progressive Cause.")

(By Robert M. LaFollette.)

Until Roosevelt came into the open as a candidate for the presidency five months ago, there was a strong and rapidly growing progressive movement within the republican party. It was based upon clearly defined principles. It stood forth as the representative of modern political thought on fundamental democracy. It had assumed national proportions. It was united.

Into this movement, when it gave promise of national success, Roosevelt projected his ambition to be president a third time. He spent weeks carefully planning a "spontaneous call" for himself. He responded by announcing that he would be a "receptive" candidate. His candidacy began to drag. He and his friends were in despair.

Then came his defeat in North Dakota. He became desperate. An enormous campaign fund was raised. Headquarters were opened in New York, Washington and Chicago, and states east and west. Newspaper writers were engaged at large prices to boom his candidacy.

Special trains were hired and the "receptive candidate" started in frantic pursuit of the nomination. In the history of American politics there has never been in a primary campaign or a campaign for presidential nomination an approach to the extravagant expenditures made in this campaign. Men notoriously identified with the steel trust and the harvester trust became his most active supporters. Leading reactionaries, standpatters and political bosses of the

SENATOR LA FOLLETTE.

Hanna and Quay sort became his closest political representatives in many states.

A number of the newer recruits to the republican progressive cause, men who before 1909, with three or four exceptions, had either been indifferent or opposed to the progressive movement, became the noisiest supporters of Roosevelt, "the winner."

It mattered not to them that Roosevelt had co-operated with Aldrich on legislation during the entire seven years he was president. They forgot that it was only when Roosevelt was out of office and in Africa, through the united efforts of men who for years had been fighting special interests, that the progressive cause became a national movement. They forgot that Roosevelt was for Taft in 1910, when Taft was denouncing all progressives as "pirates and traitors."

That Roosevelt waited until little more than a year ago, balancing the chances before deciding whether to cast in his lot with the progressives in this presidential year, counted for nothing with the class of progressives who wanted to "win," not a real progressive victory—just a victory.

And they did win precisely that kind of a victory. They carried overwhelmingly the great standpat states of Illinois and Pennsylvania. That stamped the Roosevelt candidacy with its true character. No real progressive could have secured anything like such a vote in either of those two states. It had, however, the outward seeming of success, the sort of success that intoxicates the crowd. It enabled Roosevelt to win in two or three really progressive states. Fortunately it did not enable him to secure the nomination, which would have compromised the progressive movement and defeated real achievement for years.

Upon Theodore Roosevelt and his followers rests the responsibility of having divided the progressives in their first national contest. Stimulated by an overmastering desire to win, they denounced loyalty to conviction and principle as stubborn selfishness.

In the convention they put forward no platform, no issues. They made no fight against the reactionary platform adopted. They substituted vulgar personalities and the coarse epithets of the prize ring for the serious discussion of great economic problems, and for the time being brought ridicule and contempt upon a great cause.

But the progressive movement does not consist of a few self-constituted leaders. It consist of millions of thoughtful citizens drawn together by a common belief in certain principles. They will permit no combination of special interests and political expediency to secure control of the progressive cause, which is ultimately to redeem democracy and restore government to the people.

"KEEP YOUR POWDER DRY."

On the cover page of the magazine today appears the senator's warning to progressives to be "On Guard." He says:

"Existing conditions are intolerable. The railroads, the trusts, the tariff, the money power control in government, and the burdens upon the people grow heavier every day.

"These wrongs have ripened into oppression in the last dozen years under the administration of the two men, Roosevelt and Taft, who, fiercely contending for another lease of power, have rent asunder the republican party organization.

"A crisis is at hand.

"Passion and prejudice rage about us.

"It is a time for serious thinking and deliberate action.

"LaFollette earnestly appeals to every real progressive to hold fast to principle and keep his powder dry."

"SO CRANKY, NOWADAYS."

Comment of Woman 102 Years Old, Who Went Visiting Alone.

Muncie, Ind., June 27.—Because Mrs. Sophia Olden, 102 years old, decided to go visiting without informing her relatives with whom she lives, she caused a big stir in the community. After searching for her for a long time in vain, friends reported the centenarian's disappearance to the police and they finally found her at the home of an acquaintance in Avondale, about two miles from home. She was highly indignant at the apparent loss of confidence in her ability to take care of herself.

"These young folks are so cranky, nowadays," was her comment.

TRAMP'S PLEA RESISTLESS.

But When He Obtains Soap Forgets Bath and Becomes Merchant.

Connersville, Ind., June 27.—A corpulent tramp collected $2 worth of toilet soap from local druggists by calling at every drug store in the city in quick succession, telling each druggist that he needed a bath. He told the druggists, one at a time, that if he had a cake of soap he would go to the river and give himself such a laving as would make his whole anatomy wonder what was happening. He got the soap in abundance at every place.

When the fact that all of them had been allowed to contribute was learned, in the evening, it was found that the tramp had not visited the river, but had headed westward, with his pockets bulging, and had tried to sell the soap he carried within four squares of one of the drug stores he had visited.

TEACHERS HAVE HARD TRIP.

Shelbyville, Ind., June 27.—Three school teachers from Baltimore, giving their names as J. Purnell Johnson, R. A. Jett and L. A. Jett, making their way from that city to St. Louis, were here trying to dispose of three bicycles. They were accosted by the police chief, who asked for an explanation, and when it was given they were not detained.

The men said they had bought the wheels in Cincinnati, intending to ride to St. Louis, but that the ride was too large an undertaking and they would travel the remainder of the way on the steam and trolley lines.

The New Idea in Comfort

Klosed Krotch Union Suits

In the theory the Union Suit has always been the ideal garment. Smooth-fitting about the waist, no bulky double thickness, no shirt-tail to roll up, drawers to slip down. But there were certain disadvantages in the old-style Union Suit that prevented its universal use. No more can we dress with comfort in an undergarment that is open in the crotch. Hitherto Union Suits have all been made with an opening from the throat down the front, and all the way round to the seat. This made a gaping crotch and the consequent discomfort absolutely unavoidable.

Now a Union Suit with all the advantages and none of the disadvantages has been perfected. This is the new KLOSED KROTCH UNION SUIT—the new idea in comfort.

IMPORTANT STEP BY THE COMPANY

Pennsylvania Lets Contracts for Work at Three Streets.

ACTION IS FAVORABLE

In a letter to the board of public works officials of the Pennsylvania company state that they have let the contract for their portion of the grade separation at Harrison, College and Union streets to the Tapp Construction company.

While there is nothing in the communication concerning the agreement submitted some time ago on all grade separation west of Calhoun street, the letter indicates that the company is ready to go ahead with the new depot and that it is prepared to return at any time signed documents in the matter.

This includes the vacation of Chicago street and the other streets involved and the construction of the new passenger terminals by the road. It is argued that unless the company was ready to go ahead with this it would not have let the other contracts, which are part and parcel of the whole work.

Called in the Company.

Officers of the Moellering Construction company were called before the board this afternoon for the purpose of a consultation on the manner in which the work on Maumee avenue between Walton and Warren avenues is being carried on.

The company is grading all the way through without putting in any concrete for the foundation of the pavement that is to be built, and this is highly unsatisfactory to the board and the meeting was held for the purpose of relieving the residents of the street.

Asphalt Shipment Here.

The Grace Construction company received notice today of the arrival of 200 tons of asphalt that has been on the road for the last two weeks. The company had been doing its work rapidly and to the satisfaction of the board of works until it was stopped by the failure of the asphalt to arrive. The finishing of all contracts will be taken up at once.

RECTOR GETS QUICK VERDICT.

Jury Took One Minute to Free the Rev. Butler in Mrs. Wetmore's Suit.

New York, June 28.—In less than one minute a jury in Judge Appell's court, in Mt. Vernon, returned a verdict for the Rev. George H. Houghton Butler, defendant in the suit of Mrs. Catherine L. Wetmore for $1,000 damages for an alleged third degree assault. Mrs. Wetmore is a resident of Sherwood Park, Yonkers, and a member of St. Mary's Mission church, of which the Rev. Mr. Butler was in charge until he resigned a few weeks ago. Mrs. Wetmore attempted to enter the church, where a business meeting of the trustees was being held, and claims that the rector struck her.

Albany, N. Y., June 28.—"The Women's National Democratic League, Incorporated," with principal offices in New York city, was incorporated yesterday throughout the United States for the purpose of promoting the principles of democracy and to assist in the election of the regular nominees of the democratic party. Among the directors is: Mrs. William A. Cullop, of Vincennes, Ind.

MARSHALL FOR SECOND PLACE?

That is the Talk at Baltimore if He Fails to Head Ticket.

NO FAVORITE YET

Baltimore, June 28.—With the candidates for the presidential nomination on the home stretch the presidential trainers are grooming the field of entries for the vice presidential and closing race of the convention program. In the present situation there is no favorite for second place on the ticket. Uncertain as the presidential nomination is at the moment that for vice president is impossible even of a good guess.

All depends on the presidential nominee. After that is over it is expected the trailing standard bearer will be picked from the large and constantly growing list of men from all parts of the country.

Governor Marshall, of Indiana, who still is in the presidential race with the support of Indiana's thirty votes, is being much discussed as a vice presidential possibility should he join the victims of the elimination trial in the premier contest now approaching its climax.

CHICAGO STRIKE IS SETTLED.

Agreement Reached Between Railroads and Freight Handlers.

Chicago, June 28.—The freight handlers' strike, which began nine weeks ago and affected twenty-three Chicago railroads and nearly 4,000 men, was settled yesterday. The offer of the railroads to take back 1,800 of the strikers at once and provide places for the others as soon as conditions made it possible was accepted by the strikers. One provision of the settlement, however, is that none of the workmen connected with acts of violence shall be taken back.

The principal demand of the men, an increase of one cent an hour in wages, a reduction in the working hours from sixty-four to fifty-five hours a week, was not granted.

JEWELRY STORE IS LOOTED.

Burglars Carry Off Money, Watches and $50 Diamond Ring.

Danville, Ind., June 28.—Burglars effected an entrance to E. M. Wilhite's jewelry store at an early hour this morning, carrying off a $50 diamond ring, several watches and a small sum of money. A young bloodhound was brought out from Indianapolis, but it refused to take the scent. This is the third store to be robbed in the last three weeks. Local talent is suspected, but the evidence is not sufficient to warrant an arrest.

MRS. VERMILYA OUT ON BOND.

Alleged Prisoner May Never Again Face Trial for Murder.

Chicago, June 28.—Rumors that Mrs. Louise Vermilya, recently tried on a charge of murdering Richard T. Smith with poison, never again will face trial, followed her release from the county jail yesterday on bonds of $5,000. Her first trial resulted in a hung jury.

Attorneys for the woman said they sought her release because they thought the hot weather would cause her suffering if she remained in jail. She still is paralyzed as a result of taking arsenic with, the state alleges, suicidal intent. Before her first trial Prosecutor Wayman refused to grant her freedom on a $25,000 bail.

"I'm going to spend most of my time this summer in the parks," she said, as she left the jail.

Shelbyville, Ind., June 28.—The city, through Mayor Thomas Hawkins, has been notified of the intention of the administrator of the estate of the late Mrs. Roy Arbuckle to bring suit for damages for her death. The city, the Citizen's Natural Gas company and the Julius Keller Construction company, of Indianapolis, will be made the defendants.

Mrs. Arbuckle was killed by an explosion of gas in the basement of her home the night of April 29 last. The gas had escaped from a broken main of the gas company at a point where the construction company had made a trench to put in a sanitary sewer for the city.

HE OWNS 260,000 ACRES AND LOOKS LIKE BILL BRYAN.

One of the delegates to the recent Northwestern Development congress, held in Seattle, was Col. "Bill" Hanley, of Central Oregon.

He looks like William Jennings Bryan; but that's the least important thing about the colonel. The most important thing is that he is a farmer.

The colonel is estimated to own 260,000 acres in Central Oregon. "Estimated" is used conservatively. You know to a fraction of an inch the dimensions of the lot on which your office stands. The colonel has to estimate the size of his farm.

Item: Col. "Bill" cuts 20,000 tons of hay every year.

The funny thing about the colonel is that he is a poet. I don't mean he writes verses. Imagine a poet knowing all about manure, fertilizer, alternate crops, soils, intensive culture and market prices! The colonel is that kind of a poet.

"The farmer sees big," says Col. "Bill." The city man sees small. When you ask a real estate man in the city if times are good, he tells you how many suburban lots he has sold in the past month. That is seeing small.

"I learned to see big on the mountain. I was above the timber line. The world was beneath me—the timber, for building houses; beyond, grazing land, where sheep and cattle were feeding; farther away, farms; and far, far away the cities. I saw all life from that mountain.

"It is a natural instinct to herd. Cattle live in herds, birds in flocks, fish in schools and men in cities. But with men the instinct is wrongfully directed. Your cities are too big; they grow too fast.

"It makes me tired to hear city men boast of the size, in population, of their cities. How are you going to inventory, by people, the worth of a city? A man is worth the difference between what he produces and what he destroys. If he destroys more than he produces, he is a dead weight, a loss, a lump. To say that there are in Seattle 300,000 persons may mean much and it may mean nothing.

"You have too many useless men in the cities. The real estate man is a parasite. The out-of-work is a dead loss.

"Man's mania for crowding has produced two slums—one at the bottom and one at the top. In the bottom slums folks don't get enough to eat. In the top slum folks have more money than they can spend, money they didn't earn. I feel as sorry for the folks in one as for the folks in the other. I wish they could see this world as I have seen it from the top of a mountain."

WIFE SHOWS HOW TO TAME HUSBAND

Arrests Him and Then Brings His Waitress Friend to Jail.

SEES HIM IN CELL

Portland, Ore., June 28.—"Here's a man for whom two weeks you've had a warrant for non-support. Put him in jail," commanded Mrs. Nellie Brewster marching into the sheriff's office with her husband, Ben Brewster, in tow. "I found him mighty quick when I made up my mind to go after him myself."

Brewster was taken to the seventh floor of the court house and locked up. As soon as she had satisfied herself that he was safely incarcerated Mrs. Brewster turned on her heel and walked down town again. She went directly to a restaurant, in which is employed the young woman she charges with having stolen her husband's affections.

"Put on your hat and come with me. I want to show you where I put your sweetheart," the wife ordered.

The waitress protested, but all in vain. Mrs. Brewster threatened to make a scene in the establishment and the waitress, fearful of losing her job, went along. Up to the court house they traveled and straight to the seventh floor.

"Look at him. He's there in jail. I just brought you up so that you would know first hand where he was and not miss him tonight," Mrs. Brewster flung in the teeth of her rival. "He's ruined my life, but he is the father of my two babies. You say he has ruined your life. All right, you may be fooling me, but I'll take your word for it. You may go."

Mrs. Brewster refused the request of the waitress to be allowed to speak to the man in the case. She escorted her husband's waitress friend to the door of the county house, where they parted.

"On the way up from the room where I found them together, Ben was smoking a cigarette," said Mrs. Brewster in county court, when her husband was before Judge Cleeton. "I ordered him to throw it away, and he did it after I had told him that he was breaking the hearts of his father and mother, and that he had no respect for them or for me. I said, 'Ben, maybe this will be the last two blocks you will ever walk with me in your life, but you're going to respect me for as long as it takes us to walk it. Throw that cigarette away.'"

Judge Cleeton postponed the hearing after informing Brewster that he would require him to put up a bond for $500 to guarantee the payment of $8 a week to his wife and babies, the younger of whom is just four months old.

"You may go back to your mother at Umatilla. There is no necessity of your staying and adding to your expense. Your husband has practically pleaded guilty," the judge said to Mrs. Brewster.

"No, sir; I am going to stay here and see this thing through. I want to make sure that it is done right. I want to teach him a lesson that he'll remember for the rest of his life. I promised his mother that I would always do my best to keep him straight," returned the woman.

"Get a divorce from him, and give him a chance to marry that other girl and probably go to the devil entirely? I should say not!" Mrs. Brewster said in answer to a question. "He can't get a divorce from me, and I won't give him the satisfaction of getting one from him. Besides, I do not believe in divorces."

MARSHALL NAMED WITH DAWN OF DAY

Senator Shively Places Indiana Governor in Nomination Near Close of All-Night Session.

Baltimore, June 28.—Day was dawning upon the democratic national convention after its all-night session when, at 4:35 o'clock this morning, Indiana was reached in the roll call and Senator Benjamin F. Shively took the platform and placed Governor Thomas R. Marshall in nomination for the presidency.

By the time Shively had finished, at 5:05, dawn had begun to dim the arc lights in the hall. A cheer greeted the conclusion of his speech and the Indiana delegation swung out a big Marshall banner.

Band Leads Marshall Parade.

For the first time a band appeared on the floor of the convention and led the parade through the aisles. The Hoosiers marched to the strains of "On the Banks of the Wabash." Senator Kern was prominent in the procession, marching behind the big Marshall banner.

The Marshall band and the demonstration served to awaken the few spectators left in the galleries for a short time. The demonstration, however, lasted only five minutes.

Senator Shively's Address.

In nominating Governor Marshall Senator Shively spoke in part as follows:

"I speak for the democracy of a state whose vote has carried the state for every democratic president inaugurated from James Monroe to Grover Cleveland. Through all the ninety-six years of its statehood, as Indiana has gone, so has gone the Union. Whenever in all these years Indiana has been won for the national ticket, the presidency has been won. Whenever Indiana has been lost, the presidency has been lost.

"Through her whole history Indiana has been the country's center of political conflict, struggle, stress and storm, and is today the unfailing barometer of national political temper, political purpose and political fortune. The candidate who can carry Indiana for the national ticket can carry all the states necessary to the election of the national ticket.

"Though his official activities and experience have been within the state, Governor Marshall has been since his early youth a student of all that pertains to the federal government. None knows better than he that nothing can bind, or chain, or circumscribe, or limit power but power; that the check and balance of power against power is the vital principle of our political system; that the twilight zone is only that shadowy region where usurped power and selfish ambition recklessly sport with human rights; that simplicity and economy in government are the comrades of efficiency and strength, and that extravagance is inseparable from sloth, inefficiency and weakness.

"None is better equipped to expose and dissolve that maze of sophisms by which interested selfishness makes a puzzle of political power only to reduce it to private profit, and that makes mystery of government only, amid the confusion, to convert it into political and personal merchandise.

"If you ask me whether he is constructive, I reply that he constructs to rights, to liberty, to justice, to security, not to special privilege or selfish power. If you inquire whether he is progressive, I reply that his creed is that of Jefferson applied to the solution of the vexed problems of this hour. This to the end that the tide of special privilege may be turned back, equality of security to rights before the law made a fact; the damp of the class spirit lifted from society; caste dissolved in the sunshine of opportunity, and justice restored to the millions of plain, industrious citizens who pray no boon from government save recognition of their imprescriptible right to enjoy the rewards of their own toil, undiminished by exactions to enrich special darlings of power.

"Would you have a candidate who in character, capacity and fitness answers every test to which the most rigid code can subject the high honor of this nomination? Would you have a candidate whose commanding ability and virile democracy have redeemed and made militant the democracy of his state? Would you have a candidate who is in the prime of his physical vigor and intellectual power? Would you have a candidate unhampered by faction and enthusiastically supported by the united, harmonious democracy of his state? Would you have a candidate about whose fidelity to democratic principles and loyalty to democratic tickets all question is foreclosed in advance? Would you have a candidate whose state has borne on its bosom the fortunes of national politics through nearly one hundred years? Would you have a candidate who is a stranger to defeat, who will carry overwhelmingly his own state and with it all the states necessary to the installation of a democratic president?

"In the early days of November, when the clouds hang thick and low over the battlefield, the inquiry will not be, 'How goes the struggle in the good state of Missouri?' or, 'How goes the battle in the good state of Alabama? Beside, the democracy needs and the country needs the favorite son of Missouri in the most important post in the parliamentary life of the republic—the speakership of the house of representatives—and likewise needs the gifted son of Alabama at the head of the committee on ways and means. The inquiry will be everywhere, 'How goes the battle in Indiana?' For as Indiana goes, so goes New Jersey, New York, Connecticut, West Virginia, Missouri and every other state necessary to the election of a president.

"Would you have a candidate who by his practical sense and solid wisdom in the administration of the high office, will render his party invincible in the respect, esteem and confidence of the whole country? Such a candidate the united democracy of Indiana names and commends to this convention in the person and character of Thomas R. Marshall."

Oratory Still Flowed.

At 6 o'clock this morning the democratic national convention was still listening to nominating and seconding speeches on presidential candidates—Messrs. Underwood, Clark, Wilson, Harmon, Baldwin of Connecticut and Governor Marshall, of Indiana, had been placed before the convention and only seconding speeches remained to be heard before the first ballot was taken.

The convention had been in session since 8 p. m. last night. Many of the delegates were asleep in their seats, the galleries were all but empty, the policemen were red-eyed and weary, but the flood of oratory went on.

We can now give you our famous 10c hose for children in tan and black.

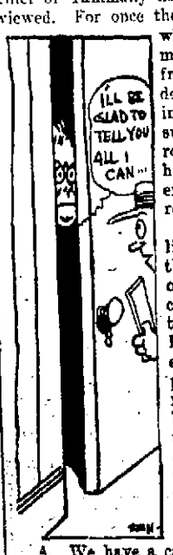
ON SIDE LINES AT BALTIMORE

Great Ones Take a Little Fun With Their Politics.

AS NEWMAN SEES IT

(By Oliver P. Newman.)

Baltimore, June 28.—The impossible has been achieved. "Charley" Murphy, chief of Tammany hall, has been interviewed. For once the big New Yorker, who makes and unmakes statesmen, from presidents down, has broken his inviolable rule and submitted to interrogation at the hands of those archenemies of society, reporters.



This is hard to believe—for it's really the biggest sensation of the Baltimore convention—but it's true, nevertheless. Here's the interview exactly as it appeared in the Baltimore papers, after being strained through a three-inch crack in the chieftain's bedroom door:

Q. How will the New York delegation vote?

A. We have a caucus tomorrow.

Q. For whom will it cast its ballot?

A. I've heard several candidates mentioned.

Q. Did you have a conference at the Country club today with Mr. Sullivan, Mr. Mack and Mr. Taggart?

A. I had an automobile ride with some friends. It's a pleasant country around here.

Q. Is there anything else you can tell us?

A. I think not. Good night. I'll be glad to tell you all I can at any time.

Nobody ever accused Woodrow Wilson of being handsome. His candidacy, however, doesn't hang on any such doubtful qualification. Which is lucky for Wilson, for in a democratic beauty contest he'd get the next to the last prize, the last going by unanimous consent to Congressman "Bill" Sulzer, of New York.

Just the same in these trying times everything that can be used as an argument against a candidate is dug up, and we hear cheerful Clarkites, Harmonites and Underwoodites proclaiming that people would laugh at such a face as Wilson's if it was on the president of the United States.

The Wilson headquarters is overlooking no bets, and has succeeded in coppering this one neatly with a jingle writ by one of Wilson's daughters, running like this (the jingle, not the daughter):

"For beauty I'm not a star.
There are others more handsome by far;
But my face—I don't mind it;
You see, I'm behind it.
It's the fellow in front that I jar."

"This Taft-Roosevelt row," remarked Jerry B. Sullivan, of Iowa, (who was one of Bryan's chief spokesmen at Denver, who's for Wilson with both feet and both fists now, but who must necessarily confine his efforts to unofficial pursuits, in view of the Clark surprise in the Hawkeye state), "reminds me of the college boys who took a 'stiff' into a saloon, set it in a chair, ordered three drinks, swallowed their own and skipped.

"As the story goes, the barkeeper walked over and demanded the pay for the drinks. Getting no reply, he hit the 'stiff' on the jaw, knocking it over on the floor.

"The college boys ran back into the saloon, examined the body, threw up their hands and cried, 'He's dead!' whereupon the barkeeper immediately declared: 'Well, he hit me first.'"

Coincident with the start of the democratic presidential handicap, another race started in Baltimore.

Supply and Demand were the starters. They're running a great race, but the odds seem to favor Demand. Just look at the prices:

Gin Rickey, 25 cents (normally 15).

Scotch Highball, 30 cents (normally 15).

Rye Highball, 30 cents(normally 15).

And so on through the liquid list.

Every footloose barkeep in Washington has been hurried to Baltimore ($10 a day and expenses) to officiate in the race. Northbound B. and O. trains are crowded with mixologists, called to Baltimore to keep Supply running neck and neck with Demand.

Meanwhile the weather waxes hotter, the excitement runs higher and throats grow dryer. And prices are firm and buoyant.

It looks as though Demand would win in the long run.

We show a complete line of pajamas and night robes. Prices, 50c to $4.00.

BASEBALL ATHLETICS

NINE SILVER DOLLARS IN SIGHT OF PINCH HITTERS

None Knew It and None Earned It Although Fans Were Ready to Make Donation for Safe Bingle.

Nine perfectly good silver dollars were in the hands of as many ardent fans in the ninth inning of the final conflict with Edward Joseph Anderson's peppery Stogies waiting to be added to the earnings of the man who could deliver in a pinch and win the game for Fort Wayne or the money could have been added to the bank account of any lucky player who was able to hit the ball hard enough to tie up the score but the coin did not change hands and the victory went to Wheeling by a score of 3 to 1.

Matteson owes his game to some fast work on the part of his outfielders who got ten putouts in the first seven innings of the warfare and the manager himself picked off a fly in left in the seventh that prevented the score from being hooked up. Roy Keener hit the ball and it was routed for the left field fence and in spite of the fact that the chief of the Stogie tribe has just gotten into the game with one dilapidated ankle he never did a better piece of fielding in his life even when he was not handicapped by a flat wheel.

Booe, the speeder of the outfield captured half of the putouts that went to the credit of the outer guard and twice in the course of the hostilities did this fleet little Pirate prospect nab fly balls that robbed Iowerth Blount of extra base hits.

Next in importance is a hole. Said hole has its abiding place in left field somewhere between the base line and the fence and in the opening inning it happened in the path of what should have been a base hit engineered by Jansen. Roy Keener, whose duty it was to stop the ball and return it in time to hold the runners on the bases, alleges, that the course of the ball was deflected and that it hopped over his hands and went to the fence.

The validity of Keener's excuse is not a matter of much import so far as it concerns this narrative but three runs were registered where but one should have crossed the plate and these three runs won the game.

One most encouraging incident of the game is that Edward "Lefty" Rogers, noted citizen of Arkansas and extra man on the local baseball team, has not lost his ability to hit in the pinches. He was chucked into the breach in the seventh and his healthy base wallop sent over Fort Wayne's only marker.

George Washington Harden was also shunted into the fray in the ninth to see whether or not he could break up the contest and he was a candidate for those silver dollars, but the best he got was a base on balls that advanced Fabrique and placed the Fort Wayne team in position to win.

Billy Gray opened the matinee with a drive down first base line that was badly played and counted for a hit. He stole second and was nipped at third on Anderson's bunt. Booe hit to middle for a base and Dodd hit to right, but Manager Shaughnessy handled the ball so quickly that Booe was unable to score.

Jansen came up with three on and one down and then the left field hole was offered as an alibi. Fort Wayne battled hard for runs and kept Matteson and his whole following on their toes right down to the finish. The most promising rally was cut off by a double play in the sixth. Blount opened with a hit and Vandagrift tried to advance him on a hit and run play, but banged the ball at the pitcher and both men were retired on a double.

After Anderson had retired Keener in the seventh Fabrique was passed and Martin popped. McLafferty hit, sending Bunny to third and then Rogers was shot into the breach and delivered a blow. Blount was not equal to the task of following up the advantage.

Fabrique got a pass in the ninth and with two men down Harden also worked for a walk and got it. Blount hit the ball hard, but unluckily drove it right at Dodd and was tossed out at first.

Notes of the Game.

Sample ruled that Anderson did not touch the plate when he tried to steal home in the third on Loudell's big windup. His goatship disputed the decision and came near getting chased out of the game.

Loudell pitched good ball and was relieved to give a pinch hitter a chance. Billy Goldrick went in after he was taken out and was strong. Jansen opened the ninth with a double but got no further than third while the side was being retired.

The crowd was right with the club every minute and when there was a chance for a rally the fans rooted hard for the Blilikens.

Blount nipped Moren at home on a hit to center and in handling the ball fast Martin hit the runner under the chin and upset him.

Manager Shaughnessy's double followed the retirement of Blount and Vandagrift on a double play.

Harry Martin says Wheeling is his jinx team and that the slowest man on the club can easily steal bases on him.

Is on in Semi-Final at Madison Square Garden Tonight.

IS HIS FIRST TRIAL

Glenn Coakley, who went east several weeks ago under the promise that he would be given a chance at some of the men in his class fighting before the New York boxing clubs, is slated for a go tonight with Billy McCabe, trial horse of the garden management.

His will be the second battle in importance in the meeting of Wells and Al Palzer and it's a pretty good engagement for a fighter who is practically unknown among the eastern followers of the game.

Coakley said he had been offered a purse to meet a man in his class here on July Fourth but had declined the offer and will probably stay in New York for the present.

Hugh McGann, who fought here at one time, is manager for Coakley and he has a battle on with "Gunboat" Smith before the Polo Athletic club tomorrow night. Coakley is impressed with his ability to win over McCabe and he says that he expects to show in the east that he is entitled to some consideration.

He left here with the hope that he would be able to arrange matches with the best boys in his class and he thinks the battle tonight will give an opportunity that he has been looking for for several weeks. He has been training at New Dorp on Staten Island.

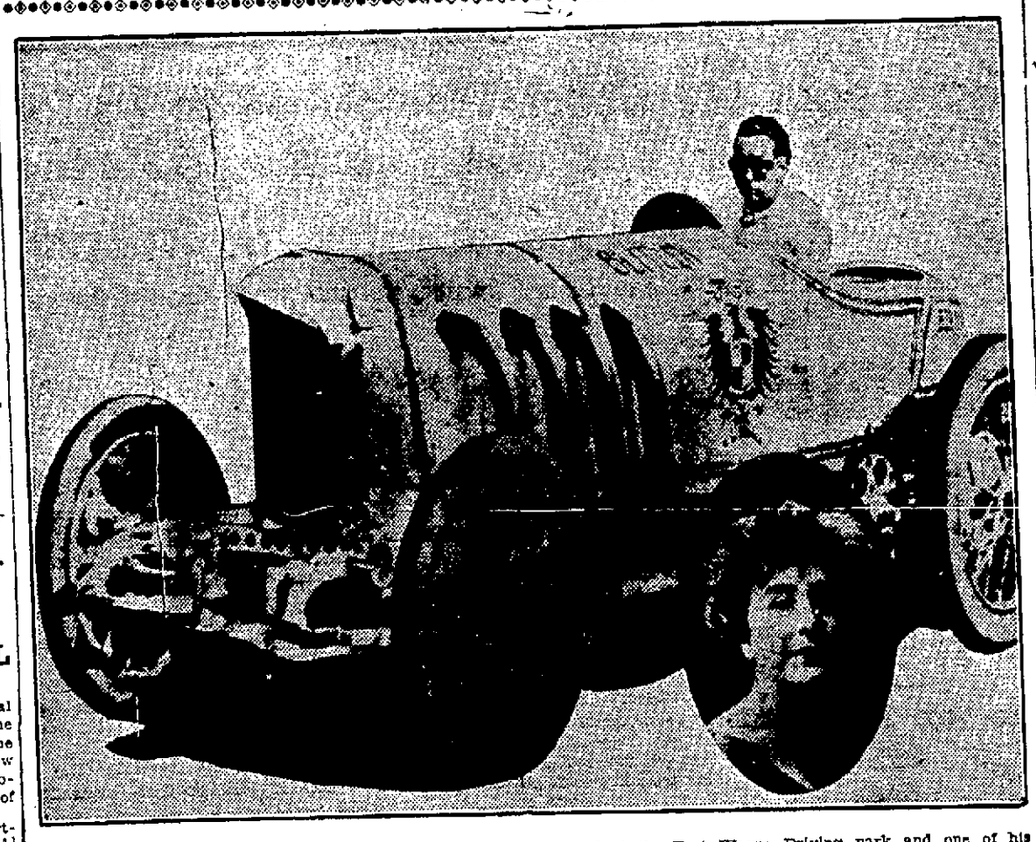
MUST PAY KIHM SALARY.

Grand Rapids, Mich., June 23.—Secretary Farrell has ruled that the Grand Rapids club shall pay First Baseman Geo. ("Dummy") Kihm salary at the rate of $180 a month from April 24, the opening day of the Central league, to June 8, the date of his release. Grand Rapids claimed it never had received Kihm's signed contract, but he presented affidavits to the effect that he had signed it, and also a registered letter slip signed by Bert Annis and E. W. Annis indicating that they had really received the contract. When request was made by Secretary Farrell that the contract be sent him for inspection it was not forwarded.

BURMAN EXPECTS TO LOWER TRACK RECORD WITH THIS BIG RACING MACHINE ON JULY 7.



Bob Burman is really anxious to lower Barney Oldfield's record at the Fort Wayne Driving park and one of his reasons for postponing his exhibition here to July 7 is that the track was not in shape for him to do this. In his big Blitz Benz he will try for the best mark ever made in Fort Wayne and one that Oldfield will never equal.

IN THE SHAMROCK FOLD

Binder, Columbia City's umpire, will come to Fort Wayne with the Grays next Sunday, and officiate in the double-header to be played at League park. The Grays are under the captaincy of France, an old Decatur player, who was a star on the Decatur club when Tom Railing was its crack boxman. The first game will be called at 2 o'clock.

Paul Diedrich, Hines, Dinkmeyer and Wambsganss, local players, are with the Columbia City Grays.

"Big Dick" Diedrich, who is now living at Eaton, Ind., has written for a chance to get on with the Shamrocks in the coming double bill with Columbia City. There is no room on the local crew, as all the regulars are playing fast ball.

Antwerp will play two games at Kendallville on the Fourth.

The Shamrocks will play at Auburn on the Fourth, playing a morning and afternoon game.

OFFICIALS ARE CHOSEN.

DONOVAN TO CHILLICOTHE TEAM.

Dayton, O., June 23.—Outfielder Mike Donovan has been released to Chillicothe in the Ohio State league by the Vets. Very few fans are likely to remember Donovan, as he has never worn a Dayton uniform. He played with Evansville last year and was purchased by the Dayton club when the players from the Evansville and Newark teams were put up at auction last fall. Mike refused to report here last spring and was suspended.

NEW MAN FOR YOUNGSTOWN.

Youngstown, O., June 23.—Pitcher Fred Sherry, one time Steelman flinger under Frank Eustace, will again pitch for Youngstown. He will join the local club at Zanesville. Sherry was sold by the local club to Washington and from there was sent to Jersey City then to Rochester. He is said to be in fine form and should add strength to the local hurling staff.

The Manchester and Metric shirt this week at $1.00.

ROGERS TO PLAY IN FIRST GAMES

Will Be Given Chance to Show Whether He is Entitled to Berth.

TEAM ON JOURNEY

Most Managers would hesitate if the matter of breaking up a winning combination were presented to them, but Frank Shaughnessy believes that the presence of Ed Rogers in the outfield will help the Fort Wayne club and he will give him a chance during the Dayton series to earn a regular berth.

If he can show more than either Blount or Keener he will succeed them and if he fails he will be educated for first baseman as his ability to hit and the fact that he is fast on his feet entitles him to most serious consideration.

He is not a finished fielder either at first or in the outfield but the manager has confidence in him and thinks he will develop and he will give him all the showing in the world.

Walter Miller did not accompany the club on the trip as he failed to sign a contract after he had accepted terms. In face of the fact that he was let out by Atlanta for bad pitching and that he was taken out of two or three games he started at Elmira in a class B league after he had pitched six innings of each and had given twenty bases on balls while he was in the box, Claude H. Varneel thought he would make him a good man and he offered him $175 a month to pitch for him.

He said he would take it and then flunked when a contract was offered him. Manager Shaughnessy didn't want him on his club and was opposed from the start to signing him. He said today before he went to Dayton: "I've got a good club of nice sober fellows and I don't want men on it that will break up this combination. Miller never was in condition to pitch and while the club can suspend him there is really no cause for it as I doubt very much whether we could have used him or not."

Owner Varnell believed that Miller would be better satisfied here and that the strict discipline imposed on all club members by the manager would influence him to do good work. His excellent record here under Jimmy Burke made him a lot of friends and many of them would like to have seen him in harness again.

Members of the Erie club took breakfast here today on their way to Canton where they are booked to play. They went east on the same train that took the Fort Wayne club to Lima where it makes its connection for Dayton.

President O'Connor was with the club and succeeded while he was in the west in having Manager Billy Gilbert reinstated. He had some trouble bringing this about as President Carson did not want to yield the point and felt that the Sailor manager was guilty of an infraction that demanded heavy punishment.

ROWAN WITH THE VETS.

Pitcher Who Went From Dayton to the Majors, Is Back.

Jack Rowan, sold several years ago by Dayton to Cincinnati and who has since been a member of the Philadelphia, Chicago and Louisville clubs, has been signed to pitch for the Vets. He was sold by Louisville to Denver, but declined to report to Jack Hendricks.

TRAINER GOT THE MONEY.

Trainer Sims of the Quincy, Ill., team, is badly wanted by Frankie Donahue and Bill Donahue, members of the club. It is alleged that he disappeared during a recent game and, when the players got to the club house, they found that they had been cleaned out. The trainer took $135 in cash, that had been left in his care, to say nothing of jewelry, etc. Frankie Donahue was the heaviest loser, being out, $76 in money. Bill Donahue lost $10.

TO JOIN ZANESVILLE.

It was reported in Fort Wayne today that "Chink" Baker had gone to Zanesville to join the Potters.

PICTURE MEN TO GET THE CHANCE

Fake Stories Flying But They Will Be Taken Good Care Of.

TALK OF DISHONESTY

Two stories are circulating regarding the Jack Johnson-Jim Flynn fight July 4.

One is that Johnson has agreed to "take the punch" and let slip his title, and the other that he can and will win in any round he sees fit.

Absence of betting and the long odds' stories that Johnson isn't doing much real training, gave rise to the first story. The latter is the opinion of men who believe the fight is honest and who always bet on form.

In support of the "fake" story it is said that men close to Johnson and Flynn, will gather up all the long-shot bets lying around and reap a fortune when Flynn is permitted to put over the knockout.

"Flynn can't hit Johnson in a 20-foot ring with a handful of nickels, unless Jack lets him," is the terse way one fight follower expresses the difference between the men.

It is true that there is always talk of dishonesty before big battles. At Reno, two days before the deluge, George Little, ex-manager of Johnson, appeared with "the papers" and said Johnson had agreed to lay down in the twelfth round for money already paid, and that he had bet his end of the moving pictures upon Jeffries. Little believed this to the extent of betting $5,000 on Jeffries.

Men who believe the fight is planned, as the medium of a "killing" say it will be simple for Johnson to excuse his failure by charging it to the life he has led since defeating Jeffries.

Against this, men, who know the champion say he is too proud to throw away the title, which means much to him, and that he is obsessed with the idea of retiring as an undefeated champion, instead of as a man who went down before a white boxer.

Little betting has been done, although one hears of large sums offered. It is probably no important bets will be made until a day or so before the match. Johnson should be a prohibitive favorite.

This has been a bad year for champions. Johnson may find his stamina gone, and maybe there is something in the stories. But it would not surprise form players if Jack won along about the tenth or twelfth round, after the moving picture machines have been given a chance to get warmed up.

SEEK TO MARKET DRUG SHIPMENT

Syndicate Hopeful of Disposing of Opium Here.

HAS $30,000,000 WORTH

New York, June 28.—The custom house has got a tip that an attempt is being made to "market" in this country $30,000,000 worth of opium which has been accumulated at Shanghai, China, by a wealthy syndicate of Indian merchants. Some of the missionary societies have received the same warning.

In addition the government at Washington has been advised by its Asiatic representatives that the China rebellion has nullified the famous 1907 and 1911 anti-opium edicts of the Manchu dynasty. All through China the land is once more coming under poppy cultivation and the latest reports from the Indian officials are that China is growing as much poppy as ever she did. The so-called closed provinces in particular are now aflame with poppy blooms, and for the present, it seems, the great moral revolution in the Middle Kingdom has suffered a check.

The Shanghai opium syndicate has implored the Indian government to stop the opium traffic to China at once and forever by making no more sales. The syndicate, under such an order, could get rid of its accumulated stocks in China. It has a right, under the opium agreement of 1911, to dispose of its stocks in certain provinces of China, but it is stopped or obstructed by local mandarins.

The Indian government is now confronted with the united demands from the Chinese republic, the anti-opium societies in England and the Indian opium merchants themselves to sell no more opium for export to China. But the government of India has put in a budget based on a revenue of over $17,500,000 from opium during the current year, and a large part of that sum represents anticipated sales to China. So if India stops exporting opium to China the Indian government may have a revenue deficit.

It is said that the Shanghai Indian merchants' opium syndicate, anticipating the inevitable refusal of the Indian government to stop exports to China, is casting about for a market in New York, San Francisco and other great cities for its accumulated stock.

If the opium smuggling ring succeeds in getting back into full action it is estimated that $2,000,0000 in Chinese opium will be smuggled here in the next year.

WE'RE NOT DOING MUCH TO SAVE WORKERS IN DANGEROUS TRADES.

Workers in White Lead—Most Perilous of Occupations—Protected From Poisonous Fumes by Rag Muzzles.

(Editor's Note.—Industrial diseases are being studied nowadays, instead of being regarded as unavoidable. Specialists are trying to find remedies for them, in better working methods and better laws. This week the subject is engaging the attention of a great national conference at Atlantic City. At this conference are many speakers of world-wide reputation. The following article is contributed by one of them.)

(By Prof. C. E. A. Winslow.)

(College of the City of New York.)

Industrial disease pervades every industry we have, from the largest to the smallest—from working in lead, a substance from which the deadliest of fumes arise, to operating a typewriter in a badly lighted office while sitting in the wrong kind of a chair. And yet we have but fifteen industrial medical inspectors in the United States, and all but two of these are in Massachusetts!

Illinois is the only state which has a real ventilation law, and that law regulates only the amount of air to be supplied and fixes no standard for temperature and humidity. A law providing a standard for temperature and humidity, similar to laws which are on the statute books in England, was drafted in conference with members of the Association for Labor Legislation, and was introduced in the New York state legislature in 1911, but failed of passage.

Any temperature over 70 degrees F. puts a strain on the heart-regulating mechanism of the body, keeps the blood in the skin away from the vital organs, and produces far-raching impairments of the efficiency of the nervous system, the digestive system, and the body as a whole.

It is beyond question that the workers in a factory where the temperature is over 70 degrees are injured by a lowering of their vitality that may lead to tuberculosis and other serious diseases, and that they are working below their normal standard of efficiency, so that both they and their employer are the losers.

Nevertheless, from the reports of the New York state department of labor for 1908, 1909 and 1910, it appears that out of 215 work rooms examined at seasons when the outdoor temperature was 70 degrees or less, 156, or 73 per cent., had temperatures of 73 degrees or over and 63, or 29 per cent., had temperatures of 80 degrees or more.

In view of the difficulty of formulating legal standards intensive investigations of special industries, such as that recently made in England of the cotton industry, are urgently needed in the United States.

Even if the Wisconsin plan of an industrial commission with power to fix specific standards be substituted for the attempt to fix the details of factory regulation in the form of law, the necessity for a thorough study of existing factory conditions by properly qualified experts is imperative. Only on the basis of such studies can legal standards be enacted or specific rules laid down by a factory commission.

There should be medical experts and chemical experts and engineering experts—not just doctors and engineers, but doctors and engineers who have specialized in public health—on the staff of the body which enforces health laws in factories.

CARNIVAL NEXT WEEK.

The Moose lodge, of Fort Wayne, plans six big days of amusement, starting Monday July 1st. SHE PENETRATES FUGITIVE'S MASK

Long Wanted Man to Be Tried After Fourteen Years.

WOMAN IS CAPTOR

Lexington, Ky., June 28.—But for thoughtless remarks dropped while chatting with Miss Bettie Foss, upon whom he called frequently, King McNamara, in jail here, charged with murder, might still be the dapper veterinarian, Dr. James Baker, of Louisville. The woman, while recieving the attentions of the man, arrived at the belief that her caller was none other than the much wanted King McNamara, of the McNamara family which for years has been in the public eye because of the tragedies in which the brothers were either the slayers of victims, and for whom the officers of every state in the union were looking, with the idea of obtaining a reward offered by the state and friends of Jacob S. Keller.

It is charged that King McNamara thirteen years ago killed Keller. The young woman knew that Dr. Baker had come to Lexington to attend the funeral of his mother. He had told her of family connections and incidents which led her to believe that he was using a false name. This decision was reached with much difficulty, as McNamara had so many friends, dressed so well and was so attentive to business. Finally the girl ceased to play the sweetheart and turned detective. She was not long in becoming convinced and communicated with the police here, with the result that Dr. Baker was arrested and spirited away from Louisville. McNamara will be placed on trial here.

Electrical Service As a Property Investment

WHY IT IS NOT MONEY SPENT TO WIRE AN ALL-READY BUILT HOUSE

Go to the leading real estate agent in the city and ask him for his list of vacant houses. Check them over and see how many of them are marked "electric lights." See how it compares with the proportion of unwired houses. The situation is practically the same in every prosperous city—it is the unwired houses that go begging. People who lease, want electric service and are willing to pay more rent to get it.

Electric service has become part of our modern life and just as essential to the modern house as its chimney. No man would rent a house without a chimney and expect to keep warm in winter. No man today rents an unwired house without realizing that he sacrifices many domestic comforts and economies, and if he takes that house it is only because he can secure it for considerably less money. Why? Simply because the house is worth less without electricity. People don't want it at full price and it is marked as "second class." Electric service in any house is an investment that pays constant dividends in higher rent for greater value.

One of the most remarkable developments of the past year in the world of electricity has been the enormous number of already built houses which have been wired for electric service. Literally hundreds of houses have been wired in cities where the service has been available for years. The public has begun to appreciate that such an installation is not money spent, but money invested, and carrying with it comforts, conveniences and economies beyond appraisal.

Ask for an estimate.

SHE'LL GIVE MEN A CHANCE.

Mayoress of Wyoming Town Says Women Shan't "Run Over" Them.

Dayton, Wyo., June 28.—"The men of this town have just as many rights and privileges as the women have, and I am not going to permit the women to 'run over' the men," says Mrs. Susie Wissler, the new mayor of Dayton, and, incidentally, the first woman mayor in Wyoming, despite the fact that this state was the first to enfranchise women. Mayor Wissler has been in office several weeks, and as yet none of the dire business calamities that were predicted during the campaign have materialized. "I'm not going to let the women impose on the men," says Mayor Wissler, who, by the way, is a widow. "The men need have no fear on that score. We are going to make of Dayton the cleanest town in Wyoming—morally, physically, financially and in every other way. But the women will not run the men out of town. The men can stay as long as they behave themselves."

The couple came to Vancouver, secured a license and were married by the Rev. J. M. Canse, of the First Methodist church. They returned to Eugene to live.

HAS HIS FRIENDS PLACED IN CELLS

Portland Mayor Plays Trick on Some Very Wealthy Citizens.

HE ARRESTS THEM

Portland, Ore., June 28.—Jobbery ran rife when Mayor Rishlight slipped two special stars into the coat pockets of George H. Kelly and Russell Hawkins, wealthy Portland timber operators, and later caused their arrest and imprisonment for impersonating officers.

While at the Imperial hotel, waiting for an automobile parade, Mayor Rushlight slipped stars into the coat pockets of Mr. Kelly and Mr. Hawkins. When they found the stars they pinned them conspicuously to their coats and began ordering persons out of their way so that they could see the parade, and thought it very funny until Mayor Rushlight telephoned to police headquarters and had the patrol wagon sent up, with Sergeant Vaughn in charge, to arrest the "impersonators."

When placed under arrest they tried to explain, but to no avail. It was to jail with both of them. No explanations were considered there, either, and both were locked up in cells, to be bailed out later by George W. Kleiser.

Perceiving the joke and, by diligent inquiry, ascertaining the perpetrator of it, they located the mayor at the Board of Trade building, called two "green" policemen and had them arrest the mayor for being a confederate operator. The mayor, however, identified himself and foiled them. He had some difficulty for the new policemen did not know him. It is rumored that George K. McCord, secretary to the mayor, had something to do with both plots. He was appealed to by Mr. Kelly and Mr. Hawkins when they were about to go to jail, but turned a deaf ear to their pleadings.

IS A NEW FEATURE.

Committee Decides to Have Additional Daylight Fireworks Display.

A new feature in fireworks display is to be staged at Foster park July 4, when the committee in charge will give a daylight fireworks exhibition. A feature of this sort is decidedly new and Fort Wayne is among the first cities of the country to secure a consignment from the manufacturers.

The daylight display consists of aerial contrivances, such as birds, snakes, aeroplanes and dolls, and will be especially for the entertainment of children. The aerial devices will be shot from bombs, high into the air, and wafted away on the breeze.

Frank J. Rahe is chairman of the committee on fireworks and has secured one of the largest assortments ever sent to the city for an Independence day celebration.

CONSPIRATORS ON TRIAL.

Koreans Charged With Attempt to Slay Torauchi in Court.

Seoul, Korea, June 28.—The preliminary hearings in the trial of the 123 Koreans arrested in connection with the conspiracy to assassinate the governor general, Count Torauchi, began this morning. The accused, when they arrived in court were closely guarded. Sixteen lawyers, among them seven Koreans and Japanese, represented the prisoners.

The audience consisted of 120 relative of the prisoners and twelve American missionaries. It is expected the case will last for several weeks.

THE SKYLINE AT BALTIMORE.

AUTO STARTED BACKWARD.

In Attempting to Stop It C. O. Lathouse Was Rendered Unconscious.

C. O. Lathouse of 1107 Crescent avenue, the well-known Columbia street electrician, is confined to his bed suffering from painful bruises sustained Thursday morning when he figured in an automobile accident on the grade at the Gay street bridge.

Mr. Lathouse recently purchased a second-hand automobile. After familiarizing himself with the mechanism by running the car about the streets in the neighborhood of his home, he started out yesterday morning to make a short trip and was accompanied by his business partner, Mr. Lehman. Starting up the grade approaching the Gay street bridge the engine stopped and the machine started backward down the grade. Fearing that it would run into somebody on the cross street at the foot of the incline, Mr. Lathouse jumped from the car and in attempting to stop its downward plunge by holding one of the rear wheels, was hurled head-first into a fence.

He was picked up unconscious and taken to his home. His condition today shows improvement and he will be able to attend to his business within a few days.

ALL HAD GOOD EXCUSES.

No Fines in the First Batch of Weed Cases Submitted.

In the city court following the regular docket the cases of C. L. Hall, O. S. Hanna, P. A. Randall, Dr. C. E. Barnett, Charles M. Menefee, S. J. Peddicord and H. W. Sigrist were continued indefinitely. This is the first batch of weed cases and all of them had either ordered the weeds cut or were ready to do it and no fines were assessed.

LYRIC THEATER.

"The Professor's Son" holds first place at the Lyric today and night, with a Majestic "Papa's Double" for the second reel. Both of these pictures are very good. Harry Benham and the Thanhouser Kid are the principles in the first reel and Mabel Turnelle and Herbert Prior in the Majestic. On July 4th a special program has been arranged for at a large expense in the Gaumont production entitled, "Written in Blood." This wonderful picture is made in two reels. If you are a loyal American your blood will seethe and surge at the tempestuous sirit of fiery revolution and stirring patriotism in this war story.

OFFER A BIG REWARD

Tacoma, Wash., June 28.—At large in a wilderness the size of Massachusetts, armed with at least three rifles and two revolvers, possessing ammunition, food and clothing to last him a year, and carrying a warrant for his own arrest, as well as the deputy's star and handcuffs taken from the bodies of the officers whom he killed, John Tornow, slayer of J. N. and Will Baner and Deputy Sheriffs Elmer and McKenzie, evidently has the better of a bad situation.

That Tornow will have practically to himself the entire Olympic mountain country north of Oxbow, where the deputies were murdered is evidenced by the fact that scores of hunters, trappers and even settlers, who have been living in the upper Wyandotte country, have returned to the southern part of Chehalis county. Included in this number are trappers who have lived in the timbered section of the Olympic mountains for years, and who, through fear of Tornow, termed "the devil of the Wynooche," have decided to take no chances.

Search for Tornow will be abandoned by Sheriff Payette for the present. While Tornow undoubtedly killed four persons, the evidence is all circumstantial. Individuals, however, will probably seek the rewards offered, aggregating $4,000, and further tragedies are expected.

CANNOT GET THE BIDS.

Contractors Have Too Much Public and Private Work on Hand.

Members of the board of works expect to experience a lot of trouble getting contractors to bid on work for which resolutions were adopted last night. Sidewalk builders are especially busy and only one asked for work advertised at the last letting.

Resolutions were adopted last night for cement sidewalks on the west side of Osage street, Main to Boone; both sides of Fry street, Main to Boone; south side of Boone, Osage to Fry; east side of Cass, first to Sixth; both sides of Main, Barr to Lafayette; both sides of Old Fort Place, Lafayette to Clay; both sides of Clay, Columbia to Washington; both sides of Wayne, Harmer to Walton avenue; both sides of Williams, Calhoun to Lafayette; west side of McClellan, Lewis to Baker, and south side of Holman, Clay to Monroe.

The petition asking that Canal street be paved from Wayne street to the Nickel Plate, was taken under advisement. The resolution for the opening of an alley west of Garden street, was recinded as, if carried out, it will interfere with track elevation. An easement will be taken for sewer and conduit purposes. The assessment role for paving Butler street, Clinton to Lafayette, was approved.

LEFT $100 ON DESK.

J. B. Wolke, local representative for the Automatic News Distributing company, went to the Anthony hotel Thursday afternoon to write some letters. He went to a desk, turned on the light and found lying before him two express money orders for $50 each. The orders were signed and left on the desk by W. E. Toohey, a commercial traveler, who left town last evening. The paper was presented to the clerk on duty, who informed Mr. Wolke that Mr. Toohey is to return to Fort Wayne today.

GONE TO GET HARRINGTON.

Detective Sergeant Ward Hall went to Chicago today to get John Harrington, wanted here for obtaining a $54 auto tire on the representation that he was working for Fred Hoffman. He shipped the tire to Chicago and was arrested when he went to the express office to get it. The tire was obtained from the Fort Wayne Vulcanizing works.

ENDS HEARINGS IN FORTY CASES

Indiana Parole Board Has a Busy Quarterly Session.

REPORT TO GOVERNOR

Indianapolis, June 28. The state board of pardons completed hearings on approximately forty petitions for paroles yesterday afternoon, ending the work of its quarterly session. Early next week the report of the board probably will be filed with Governor Marshall, and until the governor takes action on the merits of each petition the decisions will not be made public.

Chief interest is being shown in the board's action on the petition seeking the parole of Clinton L. Bader, the former state representative from Winamac, who was sentenced to the state prison for graft in connection with bride contracts in Jasper county. Governor Marshall has shown a personal interest in the case and yesterday, in accordance with his request, Harry B. Darling and Thomas A. Daily, two members of the board, said that they will make a trip to Jasper county and to Winamac to investigate the merits of the Bader petition.

Strong political influences are back of Bader's attempt to gain a parole, but according to many persons who are acquainted with the evidence in the case, it seems that in many respects his petition is supported with conditions in his favor.

Pleads for Forger.

The clean record of the prisoner previously to his arrest and conviction has caused the governor to believe that Bader has received enough punishment.

Lieutenant Governor Frank J. Hall, of Rushville, appeared before the board yesterday in behalf of Gilbert C. Montfort, sentenced for from one to five years from Rush county for forgery. Montfort is confined in the state prison. The lieutenant governor based his argument in Montfort's behalf on the prisoner's conduct before his conviction.

Mrs. Anna Abden, 31 South Davidson street, an aunt of William Roberts, sentenced for one to fourteen years from Marion county for grand larceny, presented a petition for his parole. Records previous to Robert's conviction showed that his conduct had been above reproach. Roy Shenaman, sentenced from St. Joseph county for a similar offense, also sought a parole through Charles A. Denny, of South Bend. A parole for William Pettit, sentenced from Clinton county, was sought also.

Record Seems Unfavorable.

Records showed that Pettit had been in frequent trouble before his confinement.

Claude A. Lee, of Elkhart, presented a petition for the parole of Gordon Wentworth, sentenced for two to fourteen years from Elkhart county on a statutory charge, and H. McFarland, of Terre Haute, appeared in behalf of Otto Griffith, sentenced from Vigo county last year on a similar charge. J. V. Kent, of Frankfort, Ind., sought a parole for Floyd Dunn, sentenced from Clinton county in 1909 for burglary. Dunn has approximately seven more years to serve before his minimum sentence expires.

Charles Bray, sentenced from Grant county for forgery two years ago, also sought a parole. One of the last cases considered before final adjournment was a petition seeking the parole of Earl Spitler, sentenced for two to fourteen years from Howard county for conspiring to commit a felony. The petition was presented by Paul J. Bree, of Kokomo.

NEVER HAS BEEN SUCH ALIGNMENT

Mr. Bryan Talks of Convention Action Against "the Interests."

EXPECTS MUCH OF IT

Baltimore, June 28.—Wm. J. Bryan had no word to say today on the first ballot cast for the presidential nomination by the convention and after the adjournment of the all night session the Nebraskan hurried to his hotel, where he retired for a needed rest.

He indicated that the delegates had already spoken their mind against Underwood and Harmon, but was noncommittal as to whether his choice was Clark or Wilson, although he added that he had voted for Clark.

Mr. Bryan believes that he has achieved a great moral victory in securing the passage of his Morgan-Ryan-Belmont resolution, which was hurled into the convention like a bomb shell last night. Over the breakfast table this morning Mr. Bryan talked freely of the resolution and when asked what the effect would be, replied:

"You wait for a week. There has never been such an alignment of a political party against an interest. Just see the vote that was cast for the resolution."

"Did not the elimination of the last clause demanding the withdrawal of any delegates representing the Morgan-Ryan-Belmont interests nullify the resolution?"

No, replied Mr. Bryan, with emphasis. "The last clause was merely putting into effect the first clause. When before in any convention have we ever had such men named? What do you think of Virginia's vote in favor of this resolution? There was 23½ votes for it and one-half of a vote against it. And Thomas F. Ryan is sitting in the delegation.

"This resolution has made the delegates get in line. Those who nominated a reactionary after passing this resolution, would never go home if they lived west of the Allegheny mountains. The convention has gone on record."

An inquiry whether he would support a reactionary candidate seemed to nettle Mr. Bryan and he gave no definite answer.

"Mr. Bryan, it has been suggested among delegates that conditions might arise that would cause you to bolt?"

"I don't reply to every report that is started about me," answered the Nebraskan. "I don't think any man has the right to ask me that question. If he is a man worth asking he will not answer. When this convention started could you tell what was going to happen? A man's course of action must be determined as circumstances arise."

Mr. Bryan's friends say that the passage of the Morgan-Ryan-Belmont resolution has shown the country that this is a progressive convention and a progressive must be named.

POLICEMAN KILLS BURGLAR.

Officer at Luzerne, Pa., Awakened by Intruder, Shoots.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 28.—Michael F. Keelen, assitant chief of police of Luzerne borough, near here, was awakened early today by a burglar walking around in his room. The stranger dashed out of a rear door pursued by the officer. The man attempted to pull a weapon when Keelen shot him through the head, killing him instantly. The dead man was apparently a Slav, aged about 40, and from papers found on his body, a resident of Shenandoah, Pa.

FIND THE BONES OF A TOED HORSE

Scientists Seeking Relics Also Uncover Remains of a Camel.

IN EASTERN NEVADA

Reno, Nev., June 28.—Marvellous discoveries of prehistoric mammals in the shale fields of the desert twenty-eight miles east of Mina, Nev., are announced as the result of the explorations of Professor Lawrence Baker, of the department of geological research of the University of California. Professor Baker is assisted in his researches by Professor Buwaido, also of the university faculty.

The investigations disclose the fact that the region about Mina was once an immense body of tropical water. The bones of a three-toed horse, about the size of a lamb, have been unearthed. The teeth, well preserved, and the entire remains of a prehistoric dog have been brought to light. It is believed that this animal lived at least five or six million years ago. The scientists say that the fields about Mina are the most marvellous in the world.

Fossils eighteen feet high are to be seen cropping out in the heart of the desert, miles away from any human life. In the vicinity is a bed of pure carbonate of magnesia, which assays show runs 97 per cent.

The remains of fish are to be seen sticking out of the banks. The professors are bending their efforts to obtain specimens of mammals. The remains of an extinct camel, dating from the miocene period, have been obtained.

Effort is being made to obtain specimens of the water lizard, believed to be the oldest known form of animal life. Fish many feet in length are to be seen and every indication points to the fact that the remains, so perfectly preserved, belong to a period at least five million years ago. Along the southern edge of the desert, which is believed to have been a lake at one time, there has been discovered coal of a high quality.

An eastern syndicate owns the property upon which the discoveries have been made. They acquired the land to work the magnesia deposits and also to prospect for gold, which is found in nearby sections. Permission was granted the scientists by the local manager to study and take specimens of the relics.

An effort will be made to have the Smithsonian institution send an expedition to make a thorough study, as it did of the mammoth tracks discovered at Carson City in the yard of the state penitentiary.

CHAMP IS ALL SERENE.

Speaker Clark Little Disturbed by Situation at Baltimore.

Washington, June 28.—Speaker Clark was not kept awake last night by the balloting at Baltimore. He remained up only a little past his usual retiring hour and long before the delgates were casting votes for him, he was at home fast asleep and did not know that he had lead on the first ballot until this morning when the newsboys were shouting "Extra."

Mr. Clark remained in his office at the capitol until a little after midnight reading bulletins hot off the news wires, but left for home and went to bed shortly after Senator Reed had placed him in nomination. The speaker was the least disturbed of all those around him.

House, who has been housekeeper in the York tower of Windsor castle.

Miss House arrived in Chicago only the day before the ceremony. Mr. Mackey came to the United States ten months ago and has since bought a farm in Idaho, where the couple will make their future home.

KILLED AN UNKOWN MAN

A Pennsylvania Passenger Struck Him on Road Crossing.

GUS. F. ROGGE IS ELECTED PRESIDENT

Volunteer Firemen Honor Him at Tournament at Dunkirk.

Westbound Pennsylvania passenger train No. 39 struck and killed a man on Louck's crossing, between Valparaiso and Wheeler, at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The train stopped and picked up the corpse and carried it to Wheeler, where it was turned over to the agent. Nothing could be found on the person of the dead man by which he could be identified and nobody could be found who knew him. The man was walking on the tracks when the engine struck him and he was instantly killed. The train was in charge of Engineer M. G. Walker and Conductor G. B. Fink. No. 39 is an accommodation train which leaves Fort Wayne at 11:20 o'clock in the morning.

GUSTAV F. ROGGE,
The New President of the Northeastern Indiana Volunteer Firemen's Association.

GUS ROGGE IS PRESIDENT.

Fort Wayne Man Honored by Volunteer Firemen.

Gus F. Rogge, of the Fort Wayne Electric Works' Volunteer Fire company, was elected president of the Northeastern Indiana Volunteer Firemen's association at the annual convention at Dunkirk yesterday. Other officers chosen were John Gunther, of Winchester, vice president; Chauncey Launtzenhauesser, of Berne, treasurer; L. P. Emt, of Dunkirk, secretary; L. Helm, of Decatur, assistant secretary.

In the language of F. G. Duryee, the retiring president, who undoubtedly voices the sentiments of the other firemen at the tournament, "it was the best arranged, drew the largest crowd and gave the best satisfaction to all concerned of any of the similar events held by the association. The Dunkirk fire department and the business men, city officials and people generally are certainly entitled to great credit for the manner in which they entertained the 10,000 or 12,000 guests yesterday. Nothing was left undone that could in any way add to the comfort or pleasure of the people and the spirit in which the hospitality was tendered inspired the feeling that it came willingly and from the most hospitable people in Hoosierdom."

In the grand parade there were exactly 2,259 men, included being twenty-seven volunteer fire companies and twenty-two cornet bands. The Fort Wayne Electric company, which was awarded the first premium for the largest number of uniformed men, was headed in the procession by the Electro-Technic band, and was given an ovation along the whole line of march, apparently being the most admired of all.

In the hose laying contest the department from the General Electric company's plant on Holman street, was awarded first and the Fort Wayne Electric boys second prize. The former made a run of 300 feet, laying 200 feet of hose in 36 seconds and the latter made the run in 38 seconds.

The band contest resulted in victory for the Hartford City band, with the Electro-Technics second.

The most exciting contest of the series was the water battle. There were two fights and both were a tie, neither party being willing to give up. In the first one the opposing companies were Hartford City and Portland. The battle continued six and a half minutes, when the judges stopped it and called it a tie. The second battle was between the General Electric boys and the Union City boys, lasted five minutes and was also declared a tie.

There were several cities in the contest for the honor of entertaining the next tournament and Decatur won out by a small majority. Bluffton came in a close second and was promised the 1914 tournament, while Union City was given to understand that she could have the 1913 convention.

Four members of the city fire department enjoyed the tournament, going down with the Fort Wayne volunteer companies. They were Robert Dean, Captain Huber, Charles Stellhorn and Charles Strebig. In alighting from the train at Dunkirk Mr. Dean sprained one of his ankles badly.

The trip to and from Dunkirk was made on a special train over the Lake Erie and Western and the Panhandle roads and it carried in addition to the Fort Wayne Electric and the General Electric companies the firemen from Garrett, Auburn and Butler.

HAD DINNER IN CAR.

Rain Prevented Grove Picnic, But Not the Fun.

The plans for the grove dinner at Kosciusko yesterday by the Pennsylvania division officials and their wives was slightly interrupted by a shower just as the train reached the grounds. But nothing short of a combined cyclone and earthquake could mar the pleasure of such a party, and the first picnic was declared a very enjoyable affair by every participant. The train consisted of engine, coach and baggage car, and when it was apparent that the feast could not take place under the shade trees, a long table was erected in the baggage car, the edibles placed thereon, diners lined up on improvised seats and the "big eat" commenced. The ladies had prepared liberally for the feast and the men showed appreciation of the effort by partaking liberally thereof. This will probably be an annual affair in the future. Surrounding the table in the baggage car last evening were Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Wardrop, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Fitzpatrick, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Colmey, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Greist, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Watson, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hanna, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Learmonth, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Lyon, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. McKeehan and Captain Henry Stoll. Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Maxwell, of this city, and Mr. and Mrs. Fast, of Crestline, who were expected to be in the party, were not present, the former being out of the city on a vacation trip and Mr. Fast being busy with railway matters which prevented attendance.

HEAT PROSTRATION.

James Fetters, Boilermaker, the First Victim.

The first known heat prostration in Fort Wayne this season occurred at the Pennsylvania round house yesterday afternoon. The victim was James Fetters, a boilermaker employed by the Bass Foundry and Machine company, who, with others, is engaged in putting in new flues and otherwise repairing the boiler plant at the round house. Mr. Fetters was taken to his home at 1704 Holton avenue in a dazed condition, but he soon revived and will recover. Dr. Snyder attended him.

NO IDLE MEN THERE.

Pittsburg Industries Cannot Get Help Enough.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 28.—Two small iron plants of the steel corporation and a number of independent foundries have been closed down since the opening of the week, on account of the shortage of labor. All construction projects now under way in this district are handicapped by lack of common laborers. The puddling mills have been running about half turn since the middle of the month, and a shortage is developing in bar iron, which has put up the price $2 a ton to $27, the highest price in two years in this district for bar iron. Steel bars have been slightly affected by the shortage in iron bars and are ruling $1 above the official price of $24 mill.

FREIGHT BUSINESS HEAVY.

June Is Establishing New Record for Summer Business.

Freight business on the Pennsylvania at present is unusually heavy for this season of the year. The power is kept fairly busy and the engine and train crews are nearly as numerous as in the winter months, the only ones absent being those furloughed upon their own request. It is said that the business this month is 10 per cent. heavier than was the business of any of the corresponding months of the past ten years.

CREATES A NEW OFFICE.

LUGAR TO STAND TRIAL IN COURT

Fake Suicide Story Did Not Make Much of a Hit With Police.

HE IS UNDER ARREST

If Joe Lugar thought he would excite any sympathy and avoid prosecution by sending home from Dayton, O., a fake suicide story, his mind was disabused today when Detective Sergeant Walter Immel got him and he was held until tomorrow in the city court under a bond of $300.

Theodore Mann, whose property Lugar is charged with stealing, may have agreed to drop the prosecution, but the state of Indiana has a say in the matter and until the prosecutor consents to dismiss the case it will stand for trial.

Lugar got back home last night and was drunk when he arrived and he said he thought by sending out the fake telegram the police would let up in the search for him.

At the time of his arrest today Lugar had in his pocket a two ounce bottle filled with carbolic acid which he had purchased of a Columbus, O., druggist.

The Other Cases.

Edward Beck and John Hartman entered pleas of guilty to the charge of forgery and were held to the circuit court under bonds of $300 each.

Tom Hayes, who has been abusing his family and neighbors during one of his sprees, got $20 and costs for carrying concealed weapons. Patrolman Majors got him just as a neighbor was about to take a swing at him with a clothes line prop.

Tom Mattingly, who went to sleep on the Wabash tracks while he was drunk and narrowly escaped being run over and killed by a train, was let go.

George Sanders, arrested some time ago with a revolver in his pocket, was fined $20 and costs and his revolver ordered destroyed.

Jack Kelly and William Slagle were each fined $1 and costs for intoxication and William Sproat, Ray Smith, Charles Smith and Charles Dillon, arrested this morning for drunkenness, were held until tomorrow.

OLD DOCUMENTS OF REVOLUTION

Rare Records Found in Tearing Down Shack Along Barge Canal.

THEY ARE VALUABLE

Clyde, N. Y., June 28.—In constructing the barge canal a trunk full of valuable old documents has been discovered. Among the documents are two genuine George Washington signatures to furloughs granted soldiers during the revolution; an old account book of the original John Jacob Astor, and a partial record of Lafayette's journey through New York state after the war. There are also a number of old deeds dating back to a time before public record was made of such papers. Duplicate copies were written on a single sheet of paper and the two were roughly torn apart, and their genuineness was afterward proved by matching the irregular edges.

Among the tracts of land acquired was a small lot on the edge of the Montezuma marshes, on which stood a little two-room shack belonging to a hunter an dtrapper. In it the trunk was found, and trapper. In it the trunk was found. Tremper, of Kingston, who lived during and just after the revolutionary war.

Steps are being taken for the disposal of the records.

CAR ORDINANCE TO BE ENFORCED

Passengers Cannot Occupy the Rear Platform Hereafter.

IS AGAINST THE LAW

Patrons of the city street cars who indulge in the ungentlemanly habit of standing on the rear platform of the cars and puffing foul tobacco smoke in the face of everybody entering, will tomorrow morning find hung for their especial attention, large placards announcing that their presence on the rear platforms is not allowed and will not be permitted, under any consideration. The cards have been printed and are ready for distribution by the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company, and contain sections 1, 2 and 3 of the city ordinance regulating the operation of street cars in Fort Wayne.

Those who in the past, when asked to vacate the rear platforms, heaped abuse upon the conductor of the car on which they were riding, and treated the request to stand inside as a joke, will find that they are to be compelled to ride inside the cars or suffer the penalty named in the ordinance.

"We have experienced considerable difficulty in impressing upon the people who ride only on the rear platforms of the city cars that it is against the law to do so," said S. W. Greenland, assistant manager of the traction company. "It is a violation of the city ordinance, which is now to be strictly enforced."

The Car Ordinance.

On the placards to be placed on all city cars will be found the following sections from general ordinance No. 922:

"Section 1—Be it ordained by the common council of the city of Fort Wayne that it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation operating street cars within the limits of the city to authorize, allow or permit passengers riding upon any such cars to stand, be and remain upon the rear platform of such cars while the same are being operated for the handling of passengers, in case there shall be sufficient room within such cars to accommodate passengers desiring to ride upon the same.

"Section 2—Any person, firm or corporation violating the provisions of section 1 of this ordinance shall, upon conviction, be fined in any sum not exceeding $100."

CLUB WOMEN IN LIVELY CONTEST

Race for President is Becoming Spirited Affair.

COMMITTEE A SECRET

San Francisco, June 28.—The General Federation of Women's clubs, which began its convention in this city last Tuesday, has declared a recess and devoted today to pleasure.

The contest for the presidency is becoming spirited. More than twenty state delegations have held caucuses and selected their members of the nominating committee. The names of these will not be announced by President Moore until Saturday. The friends of Mrs. Philip Carpenter and Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, the former of New York and the latter of Texas, the two leading and possibly the only candidates for the office of president, are trying to get a line on the members of the nominating committee to ascertain just what their voting strength will be. This is not considered a matter of great importance in this case, however, as the committee choice may be opposed by a nomination from the floor, no matter whom it selects for the office.

The Mills college students gave a big reception to Mrs. Carpenter on the excursion to the Santa Clara valley today. Mrs. Pennybacker was the guest of honor at a reception given by the members of the Century club.

The Pioneer workers of the general federation has elected officers as follows:

Mrs. Wm. Todd Holmuth, New York, president, (re-elected); Mrs. Robert H. Wiles, Chicago, secretary; Mrs. C. B. Barnes, Kentucky, treasurer, and Mrs. C. A. Avery, Kentucky, auditor.

Mrs. Phoebe A. Hearst, who was the first treasurer of the general federation, has been elected to honorary membership in the Society of Pioneer Workers to fill the vacancy caused by the recent death of Julia Ward Howe. The honor of claiming the secondary membership was accorded to Mrs. Caroline N. Severance, Los Angeles.

Great progress was reported by Mrs. Pennybacker yesterday in the matter of raising an endowment fund of $100,000, the interest from which is to be devoted to aiding the various activities of the federation.

According to a witness, the shooting was the result of the woman's refusal to marry Scheurman, who is several years his senior. Scheurman has been here attending the furniture show. Miss Morse was visiting in the city. Last night the two spent the evening at a cafe in company with a young woman friends of Miss Morse. The three were on the way home when the shooting occurred.

Is in a class by itself. It has a double street with a 50-foot park strip through the center, which has been deeded to the city, together with the large park bounded by Lake Avenue, California and Vermont Avenues, and the Grand Boulevard, now known as Lakeside Park, having been consolidated with the smaller park surrounding Delta Lake. The Park Board is spending from $12,000 to $14,000 in improving Lakeside Park this season, and when completed it will be one of the finest parks in the city. Buy a lot adjacent to Forest Park Boulevard and Lakeside Park, in order to be sure of a real investment. Prices from $450 up; terms easy. The building line and building restriction idea for Fort Wayne originated in Forest Park, and more money has been spent here on improvements than in any other three additions. Forest Park is only one-half as far from the Court House as any addtion now on the market. If you don't see this addition before buying, you will be the loser. We still have a few good lots left on every street, but they are going fast. Out of the 15 Boulevard lots left only three will be sold this season at the present very reasonable prices, and after these are gone the prices will be raised. Walton Avesue and State Street bounding Forest Park on the East and North are included in the general scheme of the Boulevard System proposed for Fort Wayne.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, Ill., June 28.—Nervousness regarding the effect of continued dry weather northwest gave a lift today to the price of wheat. September started at $1.05¾ to $1.06¼, then rose to $1.06¾@1.06½, then reacted to $1.05¾@1.05¾. A further decline resulted from showers in Canada. The market closed easy with September ½c net lower at $1.05¾@1.05¾.
Prospects of lower temperature made the corn market easier. September opened at 73¾@73¾c and sagged to 73¾@73½c.
Prices went still lower because of ideal conditions southwest. The close was steady at 73½@73¾c for September, a loss of a shade.
Oats appeared to be chiefly swayed by the action of other cereals. September started at 40¾c to 40¾c and fell to 40¼c.
Steadiness prevailed in the provisions pit. First transactions with September delivery were $19.02½ for pork, $11.07½ to $11.10 for lard and $10.65 to $10.67½ for ribs.

New York, June 28.—Initial dealings in today's stock market reflected general heaviness. All the active issues were lower with material losses in Lehigh Valley, Amalgamated Copper, Southern Pacific, New York Central, American Tobacco and Steel.
The financial district gave itself over to a study of the situation at Baltimore. Stocks opened heavy and later moved a bit higher, but the movement soon abated and extreme dullness ensued. General Electric was notable for its rise of over 2 points. Bonds were steady.
The list moved to best prices in the final hour, with a six point rise in American Tobacco and pronounced strength in Republic Iron preferred and the local tractions.

There are so few flies in Bavaria that they can in no way be regarded as a pest. This is, perhaps, due to the extreme cleanliness of Bavarian cities. Courtyards, alleys, vacant lots, all are kept clean, and the hallways and entrances to the houses are as fresh as soap and water can make them.

Two Couples Break Custom by Getting Their Marriage Licenses.

IN THE LOCAL COURTS

Under ordinary circumstances the marriage record at the county clerk's office is as barren as a desert on Friday of each week, and whether superstition plays any part in it or not has never been fully decided, but today there were four people who defied all the hoodoos and jinxes and superstitions and bought themselves a pair of marriage licenses.
They are Julius C. Maurer, 32, and a fireman, and Lillian McMillen, who is the same age, and Charles F. Thomas, a conductor, 37 years old, and Laura Norton, 31.
A license was issued yesterday to Luther B. Dempsey, 28, caller, and Stella Blanks, 30.

Notes of the Courts.

Nettie Siebert was granted a divorce in the superior court from Charles Siebert. He was notified some time ago that the court was ready to hear any evidence he might have but he didn't appear.
The divorce suit of Louis and Rebecca Berman has been dismissed.
Loretta Moncrief obtained a divorce from Clyde Moncrief on her charge that he had abandoned her.
C. J. Ulmer has entered suit to recover $300 from the Wabash company for damages to his ambulance which was struck at the Fairfield avenue crossing by a cut of cars.

Arrangements are proceeding rapidly for the removal of the winter capital of India from Calcutta to Delhi. It is expected that by next January accommodations for all departments will be in readiness. The finance and comptroller general's departments are expected to move next October.

TOM TAGGART CAN'T RESIST THE LURE OF THE OLD JOB.

Baltimore, June 28.—"Tom" Taggart, national committeeman from Indiana, and one of the "big four" reactionary bosses fighting Bryan and progressiveness, simply can't forget that he was once a hotel clerk, and that now he's one of the biggest hotel proprietors in the country, owning and operating the huge hostelry at French Lick Springs, Ind., besides a big hotel in Indianapolis.

Baltimore's hotels are somewhat flabbergasted at the crowds that have swarmed into them, and things don't run as smoothly as they might. Observing this a few mornings ago, Taggart slipped around behind the desk at the Belvedere, chucked his hat, swung the register around, dipped a pen in ink and handed it to an arriving guest.

"Front!" yelled Taggart, with a bang on the bell, after the guest had been assigned to a room, "show the gentleman to K-13."

He kept it up for an hour and hardly a dozen people in the packed lobby knew he was on the job.

"I like the excitement of keeping things serene in a rush," he said, "and I just couldn't stay out of it."

CITY BREVITIES.

John Craig, a clerk at the postoffice, is enjoying his summer vacation.

Mrs. Lewis Brown, of Ontario, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Jessie Reamer, of 1628 Wells street.

Louis Hess, manager of the Hanna-Brackenridge company, is undergoing medical treatment at Hope hospital.

A case of diphtheria has been reported to the city board of health from the Gaines family, colored, at 513 Hough street.

The Consumers' Ice company's new manufacturing plant on Cass street has been completed and is open to inspection by the public for a few days.

A rally of the prohibitionists of Allen county is to be held in this city on the 4th of July, coincident with rallies to be held at other points over the state.

Mrs. Frank Pence, of Toledo, Ohio, a sister of Sergeant Richard Kelly, of the local police department, is a patient at St. Joseph's hospital, having submitted on Tuesday evening to an operation for the removal of tumors.

G. W. Wilbur, of New Haven, in this city this morning on business, states that the northeastern portion of Allen county was visited by heavy rains last night. Mr. Wilbur says the farmers were in need of rain, which came just at the right time.

J. Ewing Bond returned this morning from Ann Arbor, where he is a student at the University of Michigan. Mr. Bond remained over for the diamond jubilee celebration, which was attended by a number of Fort Wayne people who were former students at the university.

The degree team of thirty members of the Order of Pocohontas conducted the initiation of a large class of candidates into the local Minnewa council, No. 60, at a meeting Thursday evening A sumptuous banquet was served at 6:30 o'clock, following which the initiation took place.

EXPLAIN NEW RATES.

The increased insurance rates among members of the Modern Woodmen of America, which will go into effect on the first of next year, were explained by several of the higher officers of the order at a meeting here. Among those speaking were John S. Goodheart, of Bloomington, Ill., state deputy, and W. Volz, state deputy of Indiana.
